Air Force Chief Backs Ike's Plan

Gen. Thomas White Gives Full Support To Reorganization

Washington—P—Gen. Thomas D. White, air force chief of staff, unreservedly backed President Eisenhower's defense reorganization bill in testimony before a doubtful house armed services committee today.

White took the stand as the service witness who has been most outspoken against provisions of the bill vacated it. This was Gen. Randolph M. Pate, commandant of the marine corps.

"I support the reorganization bill as proposed by the president," White said. When Rep. Brooks (D-La) asked for suggestions on a substitute bill, White said he had none.

Brooks' question was open confirmation for reports that such a measure is in preparation.

Must Attain Objectives
"I recognize the committee feels some provisions should be set out in more detail," White said. "I would not quarrel over language if the objectives are accomplished."

That was a restatement of what Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense McElroy have been saying.

"I completely agree with the president's concept that separate ground, sea and air warfare are gone forever and that peacetime preparation and organization must conform to this fact," White went on. "It is essential that our combat forces be organized into a unified command and that our strategic and tactical planning be completely unified."

White said a defense department reorganization is "essential to the security of our country."

Baseball's Return Is Celebrated Here

Foxes to Meet Cedar Rapids Saturday in Home Inaugural

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Baseball—the game that's as American as jazz, apple pie and Marilyn Monroe; the game that can turn a metropolis like Milwaukee upside-down at pennant-winning time; and the game that can transform a listless summer night into an exciting time—is back in the Fox Cities on a professional level.

The Fox Cities' fourth era (and potentially the best) of pro baseball begins Saturday night at Appleton's Goodland field. The first local Class B, Three-I league game in history will match the Fox Cities' new entry, the Foxes, with the Braves' farm hands, the Cedar Rapids Raiders.

Planning Group Makes Tax Cut Suggestions

Washington—P—The National Planning association recommended today that taxes be cut from seven to eight billion dollars a year and government spending be stepped up by $4 billion.

H. Christian Sonne, chairman of the association and president of the South Ridge Corp., Jersey City, N. J., said these steps are needed to restore an expanding economy.

Early Start of New World War Not Probable, Montgomery States

Paris—P—Field Marshal Montgomery, NATO's deputy military commander, said today that a shooting war is now unlikely and it's time for the politicians to relax tension.

"The ball is now in the political court," Britain's most eminent soldier told a news conference, "and it is up to the politicians to strive to relax tension so that we won't have to spend these sums for our defense arsenal."

Pressure Increasing
Lord Montgomery was a n e d, if the Russians attacked, however, that the Soviets might gain a bloodless victory unless the Atlantic alliance faced its problems on a global basis. He pointed particularly to western Europe's dependence on oil, food and other raw materials from abroad.

The British viscount, who is retiring from the NATO command in September, called the press in to discuss a command exercise which ended at NATO headquarters here yesterday. But he ranged over the whole

"Take Me Out to the Ball Game" rather than lately by using it in almost every program except "Lassie" and "Maverick," the tune will have a special meaning for baseball enthusiasts when it's struck up by the band at Goodland field tomorrow night. It's been a long time since those fans have been taken out to a (pro) ball game at a local park—since September, 1953, to be exact, when pro baseball began Saturday night at Appleton's Goodland field.

How Many Caps?
Saturday night's game, which will be embellished by colorful inaugural ceremonies, is only the beginning. The W. Spencer sports hibernation, will be alive for the next four months as the Goodland field mazdas light up the spring and summer skies.

Right now the only predictable statistic for baseball's return season is that 65 home games will be played. The probable attendance is an unknown factor, but if the currently expressed enthusiasm can be translated into admissions, the Foxes should draw well.

And, of course, no one would care to predict how many bags of peanuts and popcorn will be consumed or how many of the

Senate Efforts Seen to Expand Jobless Pay Bill

2 Federal Agencies Point to Pickup in Department Stores

Also Report Business Gains In Wholesale Establishments

Washington—P—New government statistics indicate people may be starting to buy more. This could be a hopeful economic sign.

Reports by the federal reserve board and the commerce department reflected a March pickup in business at department stores and wholesale establishments.

But other reports issued yesterday showed the key auto industry still running in low gear. At the same time, the treasury department was rushing income tax refunds to millions of Americans in hopes this money would be spent and thus help bring about economic recovery.

Under Year Ago
In reporting on department store sales in March, the federal reserve board said this activity "recovered substantially from the low level of February." Sales of this type, on a seasonally adjusted basis, still were below March a year ago. And the level in the four week period ended April 26 also was below the corresponding span in 1957.

But last week, the board said, sales at department stores were 4 per cent higher than in the similar week of 1957.

According to the commerce department, wholesale sales in March rose seasonally 8 per cent from February, but still were 9 per cent below the total in March last year.

One possibly significant factor was that durable goods sales in the wholesale field rose 10 per cent from February. Non-durables showed a 7 per cent gain in the month.

Another reserve board report said installment debt declined by $180 million in March, taking account of seasonal factors. The drop was attributed almost wholly to a decrease in new credit for auto buying.

In Detroit, the nation's auto manufacturers reported yesterday that 316,503 passenger cars

Airliner Lands Safely Despite Missing Wheel

Thousands See Big Craft Come Down With 74 Aboard

New York—P—Thousands of spectators held their breaths today as a big airliner coming in from London minus a wheel, made a safe landing at Idlewild airport on a runway lined by crash equipment. The 1-engine craft carried 74 passengers and crew members.

After the pilot had gingerly set his plane down, inspection bore out a previous belief that one of the four wheels of one landing gear had dropped off at London airport on the take-off hours before. The pilot was nearing New York when the first word was received.

The pilot, told by radio of the possible difficulty, expressed confidence he could bring his craft down without difficulty and he did.

Flew From Israel
The plane belongs to Israel's El-Al airline.

The pilot made three swings over the airport while ground crews and control tower men looked at the landing gear of the craft, a Bristol Britannia, turbo-prop model whose flight had originated at Tel Aviv, Israel.

On the third pass—with thousands of airport spectators watching the drama—the pilot was told by radio:

"Your landing gear is O.K., except for your left wheel which seems to be missing."

This apparently meant that one wheel on the left landing gear was absent. Each of the two main landing gears has four wheels instead of the usual three.

The pilot then eased the plane down onto the runway, but tilted it just a bit onto its right landing gear so as to lessen the weight on the left. Moments later the plane came to a halt.

O'Connell refused to take the drunkometer test. He originally denied the charge in a court appearance March 20.

Eugene O'Connell Also Loses Right To Drive for Year

Eugene F. O'Connell, 28, route 2, Menasha, Thursday forfeited a $118.20 bond on a charge of drunken driving. Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmiege revoked his license for one year.

O'Connell was arrested shortly before 2 o'clock in the morning March 20 by Appleton police. Police said O'Connell's car turned left from S. Oneida street onto W. Col. avenue, narrowly missing two, a safety factor in just such cases.

The pilot then eased the plane down onto the runway, but tilted it just a bit onto its right landing gear so as to lessen the weight on the left. Moments later the plane came to a halt.

A great sigh of relief went up from the spectators.

Russia Assails Ike's Plan for Arctic Inspection

United Nations, N.Y.—P—The Soviet Union today denounced the Eisenhower Arctic inspection plan as a "gimmick" and said Russia's opposition to the proposal remains unchanged.

In a sharp security council speech indicating a veto, Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev took a slap at U.N. Secretary Gen. Dag Hammarskjold for throwing his support behind the U.S. plan to guard against surprise attacks in the polar region.

He repeated Soviet charges that the Arctic inspection proposal was intended primarily as a measure to gain military intelligence from Soviet territory.

Democratic Proposals Defeated in House and Ike's Program Approved

Washington—P—The Eisenhower administration's emergency jobless relief bill, safely through the house, today faced expected efforts to broaden it in the senate.

Its house passage yesterday was a defeat for Democratic leaders, who saw their own program swamped under charges of "dole" and "socialism" and finally shunted aside by a 223-165 vote. The house went on to pass the administration bill 370-17.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California today pictured President Eisenhower as very pleased by the house action.

After a brief conference with the president, Knowland predicted to newsmen that the senate, too, will approve the administration plan.

A coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats carried the day for President Eisenhower's plan. This calls for pay-back assistance to the states for temporary extension of unemployment benefits to workers who exhaust their rights under state systems between July 1, 1957, and April 1, 1959.

House Democrats, however, were looking to the senate to restore some of the key features of their defeated $1½ billion plan of federal grants for most of the nation's jobless workers.

Hopes for Changes
"We took the best we could get under the circumstances," Rep. Forand (D-RI) said of the house action. "I'm hoping the senate will remedy the defects of the bill which passed. As it is, it's incomplete in that it doesn't give benefits to all workers."

Hearings by the senate finance committee were not scheduled to start before May 12.

Republicans attributed defeat of the Democratic bill to their contention that "it went too far" by including relief provisions for workers not now eligible for benefits under state insurance systems.

Rep. Reed of New York, senior Republican on the ways and means committee, said the house passed "a responsible

Rain Causes Flash Flood In Oklahoma

Durant, Okla.—P—More than seven inches of rain fell at Durant overnight, causing flash flooding that forced the evacuation of 400 persons on the south and east edges of this southeast Oklahoma city.

One man is missing after his car was washed off the highway four miles south of Durant on U.S. Highway 69 when a small creek suddenly overflowed.

He was identified as Bill Moore, about 45, of Durant. The highway patrol said Moore and his brother, J. A. Moore, were in the car. Both managed to get out and J. A. Moore was able to cling to a tree 50 yards from the highway until rescue. Bill Moore was washed away, troopers said.

R. W. Platt, a truck driver from Paris, Texas, was rescued east of Bokchito in Bryan county when high waters stalled his truck. He stood on top of the cab with water up to his armpits. Fritz Walls, a service station attendant at Bokchito, rescued him.

Durant police said that the rains started about 5 p.m. and intensified between 9 p.m. and 2 a.m. It stopped raining at dawn. The highway department reported its rain gauge at Durant had more than seven inches. The official weather bureau measurement was 5.37 inches.

Dulles Leaves for NATO Conference

Expected to Press Campaign for Russian Acceptance of Military Inspection Over Polar Frontier

Washington — Secretary of State Dulles leaves today for a NATO conference at Copenhagen to press his campaign for Russian acceptance of international military inspection over the Polar frontiers.

In a news conference on the eve of his departure Dulles stepped up U. S. pressure on the Moscow government by offering this deal:

If Russia will agree to the inspection system proposed by the United States, the U. S. government will consider curbing the northward nuclear bomber flights which Russia has angrily protested.

World Wide Support

In an evident bid for world wide public opinion support he argued that if an Arctic inspection zone could be established "it might mark a real turning point in this whole cold war situation."

He said also that Russia's attitude toward the plan would "influence our own thinking as to the value of the summit conference" now under preliminary discussion.

The plan, designed to lessen each nation's fear of attack, would let the Russians know what was going on in such areas as northern Canada and Alaska and disclose Russia's military system and operations in northern Siberia.

The North Atlantic foreign ministers conference, opening Monday in Copenhagen, will review a whole range of international problems. It is expected to back the Polar inspection plan in a public statement.

In a statement with which he opened his news conference Dulles denied that the U. S. proposal was a propaganda maneuver, as Russia had charged, and added:

"If the Soviets do not have bomber and missile bases in the north of their country available for a sudden surprise attack upon the United States, then our own problem of security is greatly altered. Perhaps we would then feel it safe greatly to minimize the flights of which the Soviet Union complains."

Major Points
Dulles also covered these other major points in responding to news conference questions.

1. President Eisenhower has not yet made a final decision on whether to separate suspension of nuclear testing from other disarmament proposals with which the United States has always connected it. Dulles' use of the word "yet" was in line with information privately available from officials that the president probably will separate the test issue in an effort to get an agreement with Russia on suspending tests under international inspection.

2. The United States hopes to "get along in a correct, friendly way with the United Arab Republic" under President Gamal Abdel Nasser. But the U. S. hope is based on the assumption that the Arab republic, recently formed by the merger of Egypt and Syria, will do nothing to upset the peace and security of the middle east.

Air Secretary Overrules 8 Board Generals

Orders New Duty for Colonel Who Balked At Field Policies

Washington — Overruling eight generals, Secretary of the Air Force James H. Douglas has ordered new duty for a colonel who balked at some of his commanding officer's policies.

The generals, serving on two boards, had recommended that Col. James A. Smyrl be dropped from active duty.

Douglas directed yesterday that Smyrl be reassigned away from the air training command. There was no immediate word on what new duty would be given to the 39-year-old native of Manchester, N. H.

Smyrl was ousted 13 months ago as a training officer at Lackland air force base in Texas. This happened after he got into a dispute with Maj. Gen. Grills, commanding general at Lackland. The controversy was over roller skating and similar activities by airmen.

After a hearing at Lackland last September, a board of three generals recommended that Smyrl, a world war II veteran, be removed from active duty. This recommendation was endorsed by a review board of five generals after a hearing here earlier this year.

Douglas did not specify on what grounds he was rejecting the recommendation, but the air secretary said his ruling ends administrative action in the case.

At the board hearings, air force officials said Smyrl sometimes found it hard to get along with superiors.

Grills testified he ordered that all basic airmen be allowed three hours weekly in which to patronize a civilian-run skating rink at the Lackland base. The general said he wanted to insure the rink enough business to operate.

Roller Skating
Smyrl acknowledged that he disapproved of roller skating and other nonmilitary activities as a substitute for regular training.

He said he never refused to obey orders, but he testified he told Grills he could not think of a way properly to carry out the roller skating order. Smyrl said that three days later Grills told him he was out of his job as head of the largest training group at Lackland.

Police Find $1,500,000 Dope Supply

New York — The beautiful Chinese woman strolling along the sidewalk with a bulldog provided an interesting sight, indeed.

But it was a much more interesting sight to some people than others.

It was, police said today, a signal to narcotics buyers that a new supply of dope was on hand.

Last night police swooped down on a Chinatown gift shop operated by the woman and her husband.

There on a shelf with other store items, in an oversize tea can draped with jade beading to make it look just like another gift, police said they found heroin worth $1,500,000 in the illicit market.

Officers took into custody Yung Tung, 35, and his 24-year-old wife. They said the couple was married in Hong Kong in 1957 while Tung was a seaman.

The wife was such a beauty, police said, that she was given a screen test in Hollywood before the couple opened their gift shop about a year ago.

Visiting Russian Folk Dancers Having Big Time in New York City

Go on Shopping Sprees, Sight Seeing Tours Like Typical Tourist

BY THOMAS F. WHITNEY

New York — The visiting Russian folk dancers are acting like typical American tourists, rummaging around to see what makes the big town tick.

Window-shopping and buying sprees. Bags full of new things to take back home.

Rubber-necking to the usual "points of interest." Broadway shows and the movies. And a quick bite at the Automat.

A complaint that New York is terribly noisy and it's hard to sleep.

The 90 young Russians of the Moiseyev Folk Dance ensemble are eager to see and learn all they can about New York in the three weeks they are here.

Sightseeing Trips
Even though they may be entertained at a party until almost 4 a.m., many of them are out on sightseeing trips by noon.

And all this despite their tough work—a spectacular display of leaping and whirling at the Metropolitan opera house. Their current engagement here ends tomorrow night. And then they go on tour around the country to show their stuff and to learn what the rest of America is like.

One of the girls—just like many American womenfolk—thought the dancing she saw in a Broadway musical too sexy.

The Russians are showing their serious side as they stress the theme of "peace and friendship" in conversations with Americans.

They have learned at least a few things here about American life.

Any one who wants evidence of this can get it by hanging around the lobby of the Claridge hotel at Times Square, where the dancers are staying, and chatting with them and observing their goings and comings.

For example, three brand-new handsome—but empty—travelling bags rested on the floor beside the hotel elevator. Next to them were their owners—three pretty Russian blondes including the much-photographed Lydia Skriabina—waiting to take these purchases up to their rooms. They bought the bags to pack the other new things they had bought. And there were many packages.

in evidence as groups returned from shopping trips.

All the Russians go to public eating places for their meals—on an unorganized basis and wherever they prefer. Many of them prefer the cafeterias and automats in the Times Square district where they can eat quickly, and where they can point at or pick out what they want without need for the English language which most of them don't speak.

The dancers are seeing and doing a lot in the limited time they have free from morning rehearsals and evening performances.

The dancers seem to be able to go around New York freely without supervision whenever they have free time. They almost always are in groups of from two or three up to half a dozen. They prefer to go about rather than get involved with taxi drivers who don't speak Russian.

Hails Indictment of Natural Gas Firms

Madison — Gov. Thomson has hailed as a step forward for Wisconsin the criminal indictments returned by a Milwaukee federal grand jury against three major natural gas distributors and three top executives.

Thomson made the comment Thursday during a press conference as he and Atty. Gen. Honeck discussed the state's part in the proceedings. He said the "charges made in the indictments were the culmination of our complaints."

The distributors and executives are accused of conspiring to prevent natural gas competition in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Illinois. The indictments alleged a conspiracy has existed since 1954 to prevent the importing of Canadian natural gas into the three states by Midwestern Gas Transmission company.

New Architectural Firm Opened by 2 Appleton Men

A new architectural firm, Sauter and Seaborne, Architects, has been opened at 125 W. College avenue by Robert George Sauter, 431 E. Maple street, and Ben M. Seaborne.

According to executive committee members, three member communities already have authorized their planning commission members to vote in favor of hiring an outside planning consultant service to prepare a master plan for the region and one for each municipality.

Sauter Seaborne

These are Kimberly and the towns of Neenah and Menasha.

Nick Jansen, Little Chute, said the Little Chute village board and planning committee have agreed to support the plan and will take official action at the next meeting.

Mrs. LeRoy Stohman, Appleton's executive committee member, Wood and Planning Director Clarence Hammond will meet with Appleton's common council and the city planning commission Wednesday night to explain the proposal.

Representatives of the commission will meet with the Combined Locks village board Monday night.

The proposal calls for hiring an outside firm to make the regional and individual master plans and for enlarging the commission's local planning staff to assist in local planning problems of member communities.

The plan will be put to a vote of the entire commission at the June 5 meeting.

Agree to Incorporate

In other action, the executive committee agreed the commission should incorporate. A resolution will be prepared for the June meeting. The cost of incorporation is small and members felt possible benefits would be well worth it.

Hammond reported the commission has been declared a tax-exempt institution by the treasury department. Any donations to the commission are deductible from federal income taxes.

Hammond was authorized to attend the Governor's Conference on Industrial Development May 14 and 15 at Green Lake.

London — Nikita Khrushchev says the Soviet Union probably will not join other members of the U. N. scientific committee on radiation in sending observers to this summer's series of U. S. nuclear tests in the Pacific.

"This would be a sort of support of the U. S. assertion that it is allegedly possible to develop a clean bomb which would be, so to speak, a noble weapon for the filthy deed of annihilating people," the Soviet premier told a Kremlin reception for U. A. R. President Nasser Wednesday Moscow radio broadcast his remarks today.

The United States invited the U. N. committee to demonstrate its progress in developing a nuclear bomb substantially free from radioactive fallout.

Knotty Pine Panels Flexible, Colorful

New Finishes Create Many Unique Uses

BY JOHN O. B. WALLACE

Knotty pine paneling is a flexible decorative product. It has many faces and finishes. It can be modern or traditional, and it can run the gamut of colors.

A number of new finishes and effects now make it suitable for many types of interior decoration in nearly all rooms of a house.

Two factors are important for best results. The desired effect should be considered before-hand, and the features of the room in which paneling is to be installed should be studied.

Waste Wood
Experiment with colors on a piece of waste wood before starting a panel job. Each piece of paneling should be colored prior to its installation on the wall. This eliminates streaks left by running paint and avoids raw corners or edges where brushes will not reach after the paneling is in place.

Also store the wood on the site for about 10 days, separating each board with sticks, to allow air to circulate freely around each piece of paneling. This permits the lumber to adjust to the atmospheric conditions of the room.

Sanding Is Important
Important to the final finish is sanding. Each piece should be sanded carefully to remove all superficial marks, dirt and rough spots before color is applied.

Care in finishing at each step will pay dividends in the beauty and durability of the job.

If a room does not have good natural illumination, lighter woods should be used. For well lighted rooms, darker woods may be used. Lighter woods in the western pine group include ponderosa pine, Idaho white pine and sugar pine. Other light woods include white fir, lodgepole pine and Englemann spruce. Rich, darker effects can be achieved with inland red cedar, incense cedar or larch.

In experimenting with waste wood, allow the stain or paint to dry. Then look at it in the light it will receive when the paneling is in place. Keep one thing in mind—when the room is paneled, the finish will appear slightly darker.

The paint or stain to be used should be brushed liberally right onto the wood, using long strokes with the grain. Then, with a soft cloth, wipe it off. The length of time the pigment remains on the wood before wiping will determine the depth of color.

To enrich the effect of knots, some expert wood finishers prefer to buff the knots lightly with steel wool after wiping off the paint or stain.

Another trick used by experts is to dust powdered color over the natural tiny pickets found around knots. Gold or aluminum dust will highlight the varied shapes of knots. Bright reds and blues, dusted in deftly but lightly, also will accent knots. Actual dabs of paint also may be applied but they should be wiped off quickly.

Use of more than one color permits alternate methods of application. Harmonious colors may be applied in alternate vertical strokes, wiping down the grain while it is still wet. The wipe-down action blends the edges of the colors, resulting in ripples of alternating colors in a pleasant gradation.

Two Colors
Two colors, one on top of another, also may be used. For a driftwood finish, each piece is coated first with a dull green stain which is wiped off evenly at once. After it has dried, the paneling is painted with a neutral gray, and the gray is wiped off more thoroughly at the edges than in the center.

An uneven gradation is achieved. The green shows through more at the edges than in the center. Because the grain is visible, the paneling has the appearance of mossy driftwood.

Other color recipes include mixing equal parts of chrome green and chrome yellow in oil with a mineral spirits thinner. Brush the mixture on the wood, then wipe it off. After the desired color is obtained, let the paneling dry thoroughly. Then finish it as desired, with clear varnish, shellac, lacquer or wax.

Warden Blames Federal Marshals for Turning Over Armed Prisoner

Baltimore — (AP) — A federal prisoner walked into the city jail with a loaded .38 caliber revolver strapped to his leg and Warden Charles P. Price blamed U.S. deputy marshals.

"There's no reason in the world why they shouldn't have found that gun" at the post office where prisoners are kept before transfer to the jail, Price said.

"Why that guy could have killed two or three of my men," Price said the prisoner, Arthur Stephenson, Jr., 32, of Newark, N.J., was brought to jail to be held for arraignment Wednesday on auto theft charges.

On a return trip from the arraignment, Price said, the gun and holster were found on the prisoner by a guard.

Broadcasters Say U. S. Should Pay Expenses for FCC

Los Angeles — (AP) — The president of the National Association of Broadcasters says the government should pick up the tab for federal communications commission members attending industry meetings.

FCC commissioners came under recent congressional fire for taking industry paid trips. NAB President Harold E. Fellows said Wednesday: "This payment of expenses for trips, entertainment and other necessary items — call it 'fraternizing' if you will — follows a certain consistent pattern of a practice which has been developing over the years."

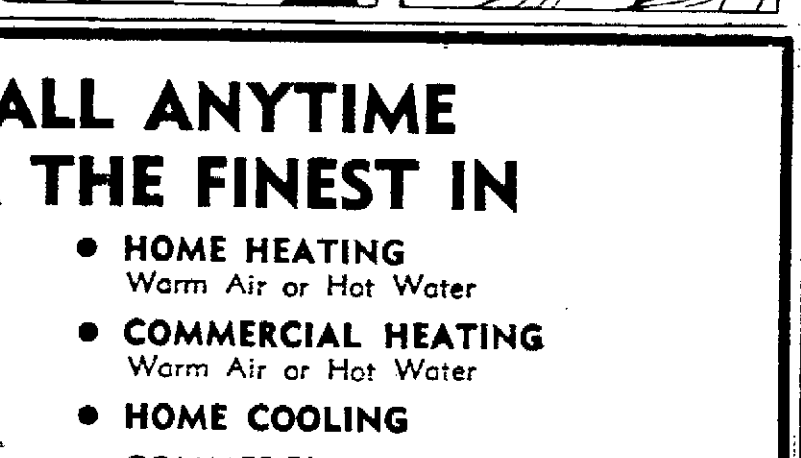

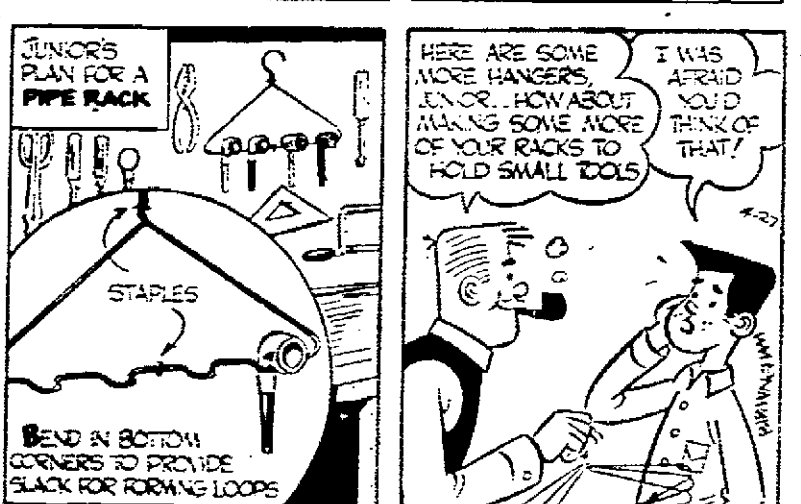

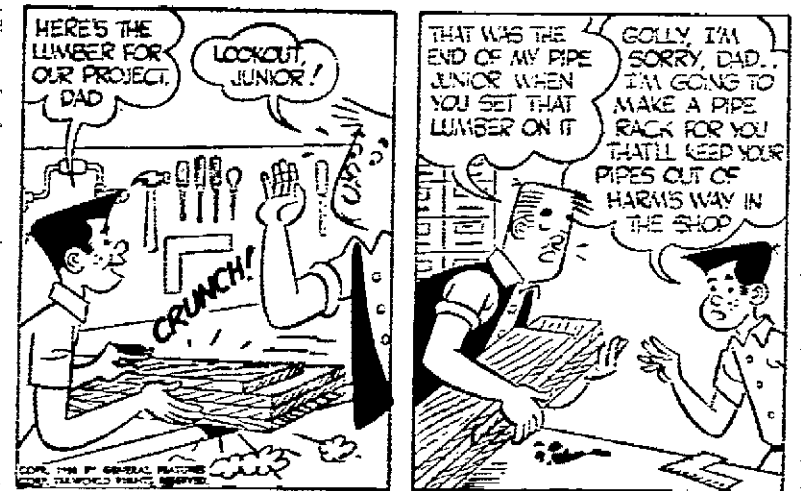

He said commissioners "cannot live in a cave" but must attend industry meeting if they are "to keep abreast of sound and proper administration of the law..." he added:

"If government officials must travel to observe, to learn... then let the government pick up the tab and relieve industry of this responsibility."

Fellows spoke before an NAB session attended by six of the seven FCC commissioners. The NAB said the commissioners paid their own way to the meeting.

Savings Still Vital But So Is Spending

Industries Hardest Hit are Those Whose Products are High-Priced

BY SAM DAWSON

New York —P— Remember when they were urging you to save? Savings were needed as a source of investment funds for the expansion of the economy.

Dawson

Well, some are now showing concern that so many people took this advice. The word today is to buy. Without doubt buying would bolster some sagging industries and thus the whole economy.

Both bits of advice are good. But moderation is the key word here.

Saving is still needed—both for the safety of the family putting away a nestegg and for the investment funds that industry needs now and will need still more in the years ahead.

Buying is needed if the recession in certain industries is to be curbed and the present expanded industrial capacity of the nation is to be used fully.

High Priced Goods Lag
But government figures show that the slack in buying is confined largely to certain industrial products mostly carrying big price tickets while the rate of spending continues high or even is increasing in certain other directions, notably services and soft goods.

And while the jump in the rate of saving is laid by some to a feeling of insecurity and worry over the future, other possible reasons are cited—and some of these can be changed.

In the last year savings in banks and loan associations have risen by more than $1 billion. Sales of U. S. savings bonds have been rising, in contrast to the decline in the free-spending era. Sales of insurance policies continue to rise. Repayment of old installment loans is growing while new installment debt is shrinking a bit.

Price Question
Some of this increase likely is due to a feeling of uncertainty and an urge to play it safe. But some may be due to a widespread feeling that prices may come down later—a chance that most manufacturers stoutly declare is unlikely.

because of the continuing rise in their operating costs.

And some of the increased savings may be due to a change in buying habits—a tendency to put off buying big ticket items, either because of their price or because so many families have stocked up with gadgets still serviceable.

Over-all spending continues high. The department of commerce says it has dipped a bit, about in line with the drop in total consumer income due to factory layoffs and shorter work weeks.

But the percentage of their income after taxes that Americans are spending for food, gasoline and oil, drugs and shoes is as high as ever. And the long term upward trend in spending for services continues.

It's the durable consumer goods—those big ticket items you expect to last you for quite a while—that have suffered.

Televising Murder Trial Didn't Disturb Courtroom, Judge Says

Columbia, Mo. —P— Televising of a murder trial in his court did not distract attorneys, witnesses or jurors. Circuit Judge Sam Blair told a Journalism week audience at the University of Missouri Wednesday night.

"Scarcely anyone knew you were there," he said in a filmed interview with Phil Berk, news director of the university's television station, KOMU. Berk supervised the filming of the trial in which Victor I. (Tex) Varnier was acquitted of a murder charge.

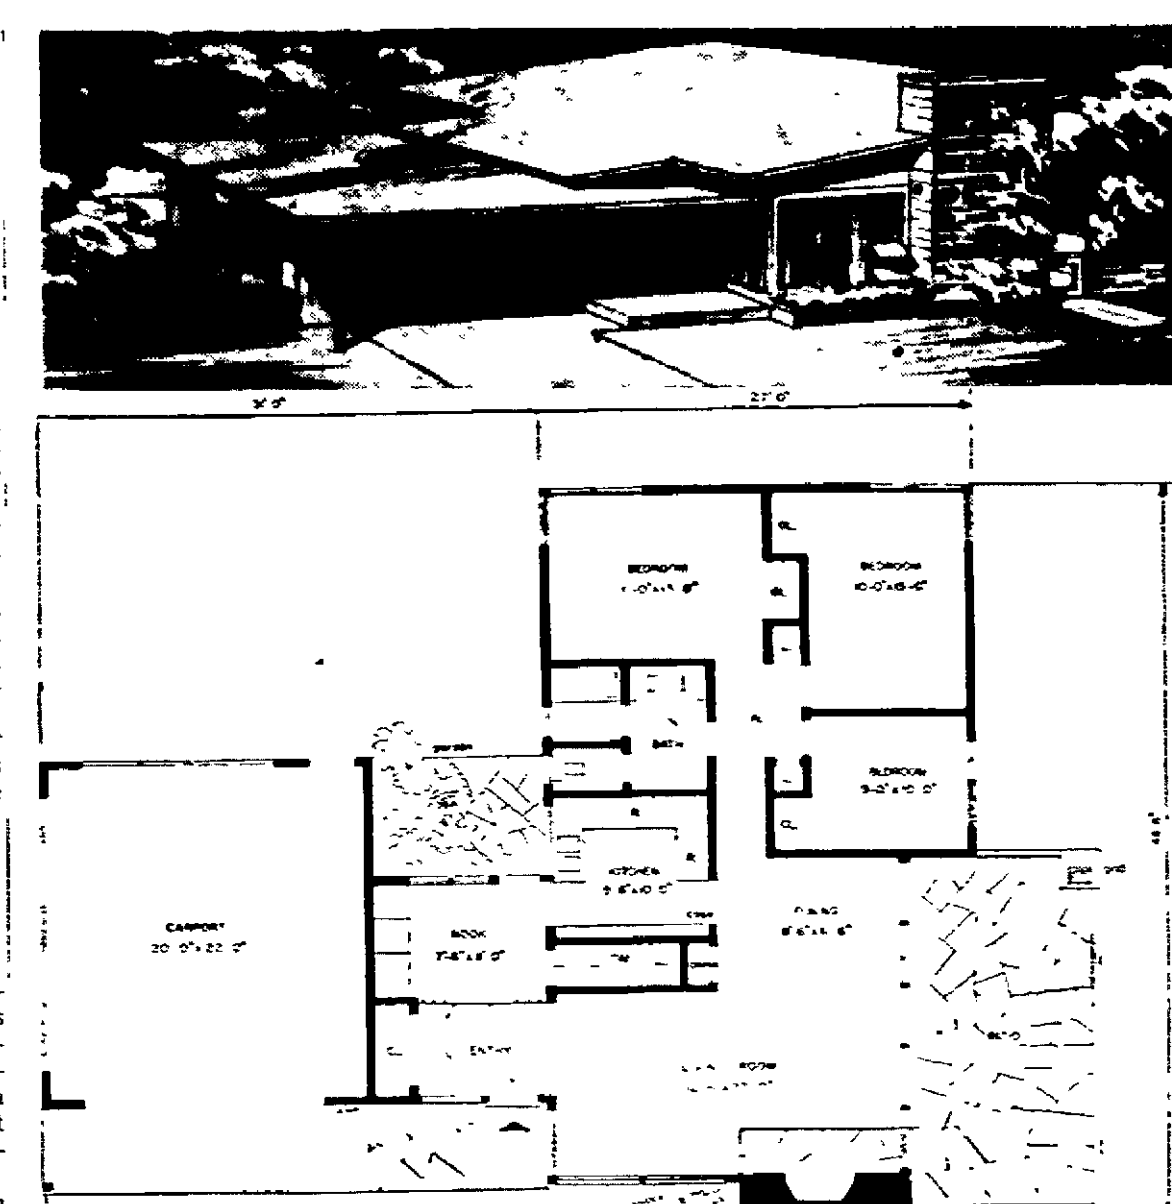

The Blair interview and a showing of the trial film, was a feature of the week-long celebration of the journalism school's 49th anniversary.

Stevenson Believes Tax Cut Necessary

Chicago —P— The nation's economy has reached the point where a tax cut is necessary, says Adlai Stevenson.

Stevenson, asked by a reporter Wednesday if he favored an immediate tax cut to pep up the economy, replied: "I have been against it because of the deficit, but we like many houses have an unbalanced budget. Now we are going to have to have an annual visit from Auntie Mary, or a room that is used merely as a catchall. Put it to better use. A little cubicle for Democratic presidential nominee told a group of European and Asian editors touring this country that the economic situation in the U. S. makes prompt measures necessary."

She can do the fixin' herself and she won't mind a bit if the family gives her a steer in the right direction. Less than $100 if used wisely, can furnish an entire room. If there is no daybed or easy chair, these may be picked up at an old furniture shop for a few dollars in many instances.

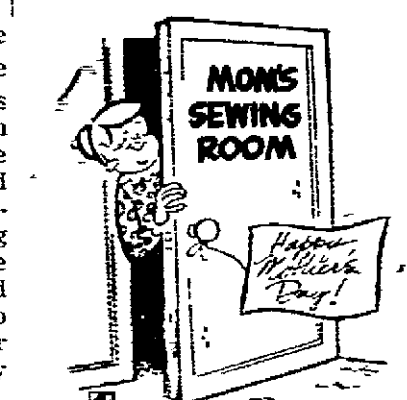

Here is a Truly Modern house with a swept wing roof. The plan includes three bedrooms, a compartmentized bath, plenty of closets, full basement and a garden patio. Outside walls of living room are of glass and the exterior is of frame and stone. For the name of the designer, call the Post-Crescent and ask about house plan 250.

The Ideal Present

Mom Will Appreciate Gift of Money To Furnish Single Room of Her Own

BY VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Try to do the unusual—like giving Mom a gift certificate for a new room. It's simple as an immediate tax cut to pep up the economy, replied: "I have been against it because of the deficit, but we like many houses have an unbalanced budget. Now we are going to have to have an annual visit from Auntie Mary, or a room that is used merely as a catchall. Put it to better use. A little cubicle for Democratic presidential nominee told a group of European and Asian editors touring this country that the economic situation in the U. S. makes prompt measures necessary."

Five women asked to tell what they would have in their "mom's room" came up with these suggestions, worth considering if the lady of the house does get a chance to rest her weary bones in a room of her own.

Ladies' Day

1. A utility room must be easy to pick up and keep clean, no telling when you may want to transform it for an overnight guest or do your own entertaining when dad has the boys in for an evening. Washable furnishings are the most practical so that the room will always look clean and bright.

Linoleum is a good bet for the floor—inexpensive and easy to clean in a jiffy with soap or detergent. Small washable scatter rugs can give this room a homey look. Small rugs may be rolled up when the home-maker is cutting and sewing to avoid attracting lint. They may be tossed into the washing machine and automatic drier too, as often as necessary.

A day bed cover made of smooth finish fabric like glazed chintz may be shaken or vacuumed free of lint and laundered often. Quilting the top surface of the spread with a special sewing machine attachment may give it a very professional look.

2. One gay wall that is either painted in a bright shade or wallpapered in a fanciful pattern will relieve the seamstress look of the room. Nylon fishnet curtains at the window will admit the maximum daylight for sewing, available in a multitude of colors and may be washed and dried in minutes. Just squeeze them through lukewarm soap or detergent suds, rinse and let drip dry—no ironing is needed.

3. Good light is essential to this room where the eyes will be used so much. A tree lamp with swivel branches will permit light to be focused on any area of the room for cutting, sewing or reading. A good overhead light is absolutely essential, and for close work many people find daylight bulbs absolutely necessary.

3-Way Mirror

4. A long three-way mirror will delight mom when she is trying to fit clothes on youngsters, and will offer an elongated view to a house guest.

14 Sons in One Family Receive Infant Sister

Johnson City, Tenn. —(P— A newborn girl has caused a sensation in the Emory Harrison farm household.

She is the first daughter born to the family that gained nationwide publicity when their 14th son was born three years ago this month.

"I'm pleased as punch," Harrison chuckled after the birth.

drop leaf metal utility table covered with a colorful felt may serve as a good pattern cutting table. These fold to card table size and may be put up in a jiffy.

5. Low cabinets along one wall may hold everything from an electric iron to patterns. Above the cabinets on the wall should be racks for spools of thread, knitting needles, what have you.

Mom will find other uses for her sewing room, and catches no doubt for other items. Cook books, menus, photographs and other personal possessions that Mom wants to keep intact may find their way into niches in her personal room.

Application Post-Crescent Friday, May 2, 1958

Monday night. "And all the boys are pleased, too."

He and some of the 13 living sons, who range in age from three to 24, operate a nearby household.

Mother and daughter are reported well at a hospital here, but no name has been selected for the new queen of the household.

Mrs. Harrison favors Barbara Ann, and her husband says it's all right with him. "If it had been a boy," Harrison said, "we had a long list of names ready."

It was such a surprise, the father laughed, "I had one neighbor who lost a $5 bet."

Here's the Answer

BY ANDREW C. LANG
Question: Our dining room table is made of light birch. It had a long scratch on it and I bought a tube of furniture scratch remover and rubbed it over the scratch according to directions. It filled the scratch for all right but left it much darker than the rest of the table top. I don't want to fool around with it any more for fear that I will make it worse. What is your advice?
Answer: If you don't want to "fool around with it any more" I can offer you no advice except to have a professional take care of it. It is my guess that you failed to read the directions on the tube, which probably said not to use the material on light furniture. There are scratch removers made just for light finishes. If you have the courage to try again, dig out the old scratch remover with a razor blade or sharp knife working very carefully. Then use the type of remover for light finishes . . . or fill the scratch with clear shellac applied with a tiny artist's brush . . . or refinish the entire table top. Maybe you're right, maybe you'd better not fool around with it any longer.
Question: A brownish-yellow streak has appeared lengthwise on our ceiling, which is made of plasterboard. This is the second time the streak has appeared, each time about a year after painting. Can you tell me what is causing this? There is an unfinished attic over the ceiling.
Answer: Moisture, carrying with it rust, asphalt or wood sap it causing the streak. Have you made a thorough inspection of the beams and the peak of the roof, carefully looking for any discoloration that might be the tipoff? In any case, a length of aluminum foil should be placed between the beams under the attic floor, directly above the streak. The foil should be used in its full width, either one or 2 feet wide. But while this might prevent the streak, you'd still be wise to try to find the source of the moisture.
Question: I am having a house built this summer. My contractor says that No. 3 grade framing lumber will be good enough. I am willing to spend a little more for better grade lumber, but he says it is not necessary. Is he right?
Answer: You will always save money in buying any kind of lumber by using the lowest grade that will perform the job satisfactorily. No 3 grade framing—or dimension—lumber is very strong and is, in fact, recommended by lumbermen's associations for most purposes in one-story houses. In a two-story house No. 2 lumber is usually used for the studing on the ground floor. No 3 for the studing on the top floor. Your contractor is giving you good information.

Local Initiative and Higher Education

One of the most widely discussed subjects at last week's Governor's Conference on Education Beyond High School was the need for a "terminal" program of higher education in Wisconsin. This term refers to education beyond the high school that terminates some time before the standard four years required for a college degree.

Actually this kind of education is available now in Wisconsin; a student can continue his schooling for one or two years after graduating from high school in a number of ways. He can simply go to college and then drop out after completing one or two years, or he can attend a University Extension center or take courses at his local vocational school. The principal problem, however, is that society does not give much credit to this kind of education; employers and others generally divide all people into "high school graduates" and "college graduates" and the person who took some schooling after high school but did not get a college degree is lumped in with those who went no farther than high school.

In a number of other states this problem has been attacked by the creation of junior colleges which offer a 2-year course in which both technical and general subjects can be taken. In most cases these junior colleges are operated and financed by municipalities, and fill in the gap between the high school and a full college course for those young people who want to continue their education beyond high school but who do not have the intellectual or financial resources to aim for a full college degree. In addition, they offer an opportunity for students planning to go on to senior college to begin their higher education nearer their homes; in nearly all cases the colleges and universities in these states give full credit for work done at the junior colleges.

It would not take much effort to evolve Wisconsin's present extension center and vocational school programs into something that would answer the need for a terminal program of education beyond high school.

Does Doerfer Want a Licensed Press?

John C. Doerfer, chairman of the Federal Communications commission who recently figured unhappily in a congressional investigation of the commission, has called on the nation's broadcasters to make more use of their right to editorialize over the air. He used that statement as a point from which to tee off on newspapers generally. He apparently intended his remarks to carry a veiled threat against newspaper publishers who might be seeking radio or TV grants in the future.

Doerfer's appearances before the congressional committee must have been quite painful. Whatever may be said for individual members of the commission accepting gifts, expense money and entertainment from persons, corporations or associations in the broadcasting industry on the ground that the government travel allowance is too meager, it is not enough to justify the practice. There can be no doubt that the testimony at the hearings severely jolted public confidence in the commission.

Doerfer's blast at newspapers appears to be born of anger because the newspapers published some unpleasant facts about the commission and about Doerfer. If that is the case, as it appears to be, it is a poor basis for making commission policy and cannot add anything to the public's confidence in the commission.

In inviting the broadcasters to editorialize more, Doerfer warned them that as users of publicly-owned radio frequencies they must also offer time for opposing points of view. This concept of an obligation to be fair, he said, may come as a shock to some newspaper editors. The broadcaster must exercise more care than the newspaper editor, who "need not seek renewal of a license every three years."

Czechoslovak communist leaders again have clamped down on the Catholic church in that unhappy country, particularly for what is termed "the hate-filled attitude of the Catholics toward the Czechoslovak Republic."

Back in 1948 the Reds imprisoned many bishops, priests, nuns and monks and many are thought to be still held in dungeons. But the latest outburst was caused by a plumber's discovery of a treasure in the vaults of the oldest Capuchin monastery in Bohemia, since the monastery dates back to 1600 it might be presumed that today's monks know nothing of the treasure's existence except for one thing. Among the jewel-encrusted crowns, ball and scepters, gold monstrances, chalices, gold-embroidered robes, paintings and manuscripts were six tires marked "Made in U.S." Naturally the find was linked to an alleged "American spy center" supposed to be operating from a convent in Prague.

It may be that the charges are true, and we rather hope they are. Certainly, despite the division between that which is Caesar's and that which is God's, the Catholic church is a logical opponent of the Red machine. But a recent story from

The principal need is for the extension centers and vocational schools to develop comprehensive, balanced programs for this purpose, and to issue to students completing such programs certificates of graduation that would mean something to employers and the public. The next step must be to educate the public, to change its idea that a full college diploma is the only goal worth aiming for in education beyond high school. In its extension centers and vocational schools, Wisconsin has excellent tools with which to do this job.

We think this development is going to take place in Wisconsin during the next few years, and therefore it is all the more important that the Fox Cities area move quickly to retain the University Extension center here, and provide it with the physical facilities it will need to meet the demands of Fox Cities young people for both terminal and non-terminal educational programs in the coming years. As we understand it, the university will be only too happy to provide the faculty and administrative staff for such a venture, plus laboratory equipment, if quarters for the extension center are provided locally. We renew our suggestion that Outagamie and Winnebago counties get together to meet this problem and provide the extension center with a site and building that will give it a chance to grow into a really important educational institution here. (Calumet county also should be invited to participate, since part of the Fox Cities urban area is located in that county.) Certainly no one municipality should be asked to bear the full cost of providing the center with a home, and asking six or seven municipalities to go together on such a project is, in our opinion, a clumsy way of approaching the problem. This is a chance for the governments of the three counties whose borders meet at the Fox Cities to demonstrate their awareness of the need for action on the county level to meet the problems of our fast-growing Fox Cities area, and of the need for local initiative in meeting Wisconsin's problems in the field of higher education.

Doerfer thinks this licensing is a good thing which is natural, for at the moment he is the top dog in the business of issuing the licenses. But will he be able to sell his idea to the people who have just watched with great interest a demonstration of the pulling and hauling that goes on when such licenses are granted? It is unnecessary to review the story here, but when the testimony was in on the granting of a TV license in Miami the chairman of the committee, Rep. Harris, addressed FCC Commissioner Richard A. Mack in these words:

I feel sorry for you. . . . You are to be pitied in my opinion, because I think you have been used as a tool in this unfortunate mess. . . . The best possible service you could now render as a member of the FCC would be to submit your resignation.

Mack did resign but he was no worse than the people who tried to influence him through gifts of stock in a corporation, political pressure and other means. Though Mack is gone these others are still there and will be active again when the prize is big enough.

Does Doerfer think it would be wise practice to send the nation's newspapers to Washington every three years begging for a renewal of their licenses to publish? What chance would an honest newspaper have in a scramble with such wolves as were revealed at the hearings, and before such weaklings as were shown to be on the commission?

What Doerfer seems to be advocating is forbidden by the first amendment to the Constitution. That amendment has been hailed by all the nation's leading thinkers as the greatest bulwark of American liberty. Doerfer has really hurled himself against a solid wall.

Austria may explain why all the hullabaloo all of a sudden.

Soviet soldiers raiding the ancient Goettweig monastery some time ago came on a Haydn Mass which has been lost for decades. Unaware of its value and seeing that the music neither gleamed with rubies nor was drinkable, the soldiers dumped it in the road. An Austrian forerster rescued it, and it will be performed in the United States this June at the Dartmouth music festival.

The communists have as part of their line their protection and uplifting of the arts even to the awarding of a high prize to the American pianist Van Cliburn, a Texan no less. The failure of the Soviet soldiers to recognize such a masterpiece as the Haydn composition has been embarrassing.

Anyone who believes that the charges against the church in Czechoslovakia and the applause for young Cliburn are isolated incidents should study the philosophy of communism a little more thoroughly. The only thing permitted to cross national boundaries as far as the Reds are concerned is not science, art or religion. It is communism.

Don't Underestimate Russia's New Economic Moves, Warns Sokolsky

BY GEORGE SOKOLSKY

In a significant interview with "Le Figaro," Khrushchev, as usual, made many side statements of far reaching significance. We, American s, tend to oversimplify the Russians and their development until we are caught short by some stride that they have taken.

In the "Le Figaro" interview, Khrushchev raises the question that few of us are willing to recognize but which some of our thinkers such as Herbert Hoover and Hugh Gibson spoke of even when World War II was in process, namely that the United States could be isolated involuntarily.

I quote from the Tass report of the interview — that is, the official Russian report:

"Speaking about the possibility of building communism in the USSR in the conditions of capitalist encirclement, Khrushchev called the interviewer's attention to the circumstance that at the present time the very concept of 'capitalist encirclement' needs serious qualifications. Now it is hard to tell, Khrushchev said, who encircles whom — is it the capitalist countries that encircle the socialist countries or vice versa? The socialist countries are inhabited by 1 billion people out of the 2.5 billion total world population; with the establishment of the world system of socialism, the world situation has changed radically and not in favor of capitalism. Consequently capitalist encirclement in the old meaning of this word is out of the question."

The most recent techniques employed by Soviet Russia are economic and might be regarded as capitalistic. They have to do with the movement of goods, the use of gold as a common denominator of currency and the substitution of Russian for American economic and military aid to countries which cannot stand on their own. The most recent economic invasion by Soviet Russia is into Latin America.

From the standpoint of the United States the most dangerous operations of Soviet Russia are in Brazil and Chile. Brazil is suffering economically from an excessive coffee crop, dependent upon an American market which is appalled at the high and even unreasonable cost of the commodity.

By a pulverizing method, the various "instant" brands have come into existence, have been popularized and are in wide use. Economically, the importance of the "instant" coffee is that it is possible to get more cups of coffee out of a pound this way than by cooking ground beans.

Be all this as it may, the United States cannot absorb all the coffee that Brazil wishes to send to this country or at the prices that Brazil wishes to charge. Therefore, the Russians, who do not drink much coffee, preferring tea drunk hot in glasses, are ready to buy the Brazilian surplus on a barter deal. This would give Russia a foot in the door, as it were, of the most Catholic country of Latin America.

Sale Outside Russia Obviously, the Russians cannot consume this surplus coffee crop, but would ultimately dump it either among coffee-drinking satellites such as the east Germans, the Czechs or the Hungarians or would dribble it into the world market slowly enough not to ruin the price. The Russians can undoubtedly make a profit on this transaction.

Another deal involves Chile copper. This has become a political issue in Chile. Chile is one of the Famed Lecturer, Popular 'Pinafore'

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of May 3, 1879.

The College Chapel ought to be thronged on Tuesday evening next when the celebrated Boston lecturer, Joseph Cook, will deliver his talk on "Certainties in Religion." The divine is one of the most popular pulpit orators in the country and an opportunity to hear him occurs but rarely.

The furore among the people to witness the Pinafore Opera is not confined to any one locality, but may be said to be a prevailing mania the country over. It has been brought out in all the large cities with all the accessories of perfectly adapted scenery and fine companies; in the smaller towns it has been given by amateur talent. There is scarce a town of 5,000 inhabitants which has not had its "Pinafore."

The opera has had a wonderful run everywhere and it is not surprising to know that this Friday evening Bertschy Hall was thronged with one of the largest assemblages that has ever been witnessed on the occasion of any entertainment in that hall for some time. They witnessed the "Pinafore" opera as produced by Prof. Parkinson and his fine company of Oshkosh gentlemen and ladies, who arrived by steamer and returned the same way. A large number of citizens from Oshkosh, Neenah and Menasha accompanied them.

Thomson, Nelson Both Avoid Sales Tax Issue

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — Candidates for high office tend to devote their time in their speeches to those topics that are uppermost in the minds of a substantial number of voters.

There is one obvious exception to that rule of political behavior with respect to the two men competing for the highest and most powerful office in Wisconsin government. Vernon W. Thomson, the incumbent, or Gaylord Nelson, the legislator destined for the Democratic nomination, will be governor of Wisconsin for the next two years.

Neither of them has thus far chosen to talk about the question that is getting more private discussion among Wisconsin citizens of a political bent and more public discussion among organized pressure groups than any other that can be named. That is the sales tax.

Your correspondent occasionally is invited to take world's greatest producers of copper. On the other hand, the copper market in the United States has slumped, the price of copper is down and there is talk of putting a protective tariff on copper in this country.

These conditions seriously affect the economy of Chile and there is talk of Soviet Russia buying the Chilean copper production. The socialist and communist parties favor trading with Soviet Russia; those in power fear to injure Chile's relations with the United States.

Capitalistic Lines On the other hand, the United States cannot purchase all the copper that can be produced in the western hemisphere for political reasons without the slightest regard to economic necessity.

Again the point must be made that Soviet Russia could accumulate stocks of surplus copper, could pour it into world markets; thus affecting the price.

The use of the economic tool is rather recent in the Soviet's effort to control the world. Stalin apparently was too doctrinaire a socialist to bother with such capitalistic weapons. Khrushchev, Bulganin and Mikoyan not only understand non-socialistic methods but also know how to operate money, banking and the use of commodities along capitalistic lines.

the lecture platform. Partly because it is a convenient avenue by which to get the flavor of typical citizen thinking, he usually invites informal questions after the formal speech. During the last two years there has not yet been a meeting at which this chronicler was the guest that the sales tax did not come up almost immediately in the question period.

THE POSITIONS

Both of these candidates, of course, are on record with respect to their personal feelings on a sales tax as a balance in the state-local tax structure.

Both have said repeatedly that their personal feelings are against it. It was Thomson's adamant position that was responsible, more than any other, for the fact that the sales tax was indifferently received in the last legislature and got only casual attention.

The Thomson and Nelson positions are similar on other accounts.

The challenger knows he cannot be elected if he says anything in favor of a sales tax. The Democratic party is too deeply committed to give him any real freedom of action or view on the matter.

Gov. Thomson also has a hunch that he cannot compromise, and be elected again—in view of the prominence Democrats have given to the issue and the long-time propaganda effect of sales tax opponents against a relatively recent and fairly feeble effort by those of other views.

It is for that reason that these candidates don't talk about this matter—until they have to. They then give their positions as briefly as possible, hoping talk will turn to other and safer subjects.

THE FACTS

The fact is that these two, as other politicians, have something even more subtle in common on this question.

There is no intention here to impugn the integrity of either man. Men in politics sometimes are faced with issues that are difficult to handle, even by those of highest morality and best intentions.

They are realists. They no doubt appreciate that the sales tax won't depend wholly or even largely upon their personal wishes. They no doubt know that it will come, under pressure of events, whether they endorse it personally or not.

A politician may say he is against war, but that does not guarantee peace. The politician may with perfect sincerity denounce the property tax, but that doesn't imply that he is going to do away with it.

The sales tax will come at that moment, and in that year, when the pressure for public spending overcomes the resistance for new or additional public taxation. At that time the men holding public office will accommodate themselves to the realities of the time, whatever they may feel now or hope now.

These candidates, men of realism and considerable experience, instinctively are soft-pedaling because there is no political alternative. But anyone with eyes to see knows that there can be only one ultimate answer to the insatiable increase in public spending. That is a broadening and enlarging of the tax base.

Virginia License Tags Traveling Overseas
Richmond, Va. — If you notice an American's automobile abroad it will probably carry a Virginia license tag. Chester Lamb, Virginia motor vehicle commissioner, says "happy we are getting such good advertising."

Most states issue tags only if the owner applies in person. A few will issue plates by mail after the applicant has proven legal residence in the state. But just send in the fee and Virginia will mail you the tag. And many are sold to service men and to employees of American firms in foreign countries.

Many College Graduates Go Out of State

But Most Teachers Take Positions in Wisconsin

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—Institutions of higher education in Wisconsin, public and private, are producing professional and business specialists for the rest of the country in almost the same quantity as for Wisconsin.

Staff researchers of the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education analyzed the post-college plans of nearly 5,000 men and women who were graduated from Wisconsin universities and college last year.

The study showed that a majority had job plans or other plans fixed at the time of graduation — including military service, marriage and post-graduate studies. The number of graduates planning graduate and professional studies is increasing, it was noted.

Conspicuous among the findings, however, was the disclosure that a relatively high proportion of the graduates with job plans were taking jobs outside the state.

Only among the teachers was there a substantial majority of home-state employment planning. Eighty per cent of the teaching major graduates planned jobs here.

But only 44 per cent of the engineering graduates, 59 per cent of the commerce graduates, 55 per cent of the graduates in agriculture, 50 per cent of the economics graduates, 55 per cent of the nurses, and 51 per cent of the liberal arts degree winners said they had located positions within Wisconsin. In every instance, a preponderant majority of them had entered college as Wisconsin residents.

The study also showed that 19 per cent of the men graduates and 5 per cent of the women planned advanced studies, besides those with post-graduate plans who were headed immediately for military service, accounting for 13 per cent of the men graduates.

Mr. Glenn Arthur

APPLETON POST-CRESCENT
Appleton, Wisconsin

Dear Glenn:

Your newspaper is tremendous! I've never meant anything more in my life! The Garvey agency doesn't want to sound cornball, or give the Post-Crescent a halo that might fit too tight, but we certainly want you to know what we think about the recent Garvey Baldwin Plat Open House which ran in the P-C the first week in March.

Here are some result figures for your ego file:

6,000 people went through the Garvey model home in one week!

We sold the model home for our expected price!

Three additional people wanted to buy the home after it was sold! (This really surprised us, because the initial effort was directed not on selling the model home, but on selling property in the plat itself!)

We sold 12 lots directly during the week!

It made March the biggest month in the history of our agency which is now eight years old.

No fooling, Glenn, the performance of the public proved there is no such thing as a recession in this area, and it proved that Post-Crescent advertising sells.

I also want to compliment you on the cooperation and aid given by both retail salesman Harold Deprez and classified salesman Gene Hammen. It was tremendous!

Stick around, Post-Crescent, we can use you!

Cordially,

Clothespin Cowboy Has Gay Apparel Made From Scraps

BY CAPPY DICK

The clothespin cowboy in Figure 4 is easy to make if you cut his costume as shown by the diagrams in Figures 2 and 3.

His shirt is made from a scrap of red cloth and his vest and chaps are cut from chambray skin. A strip of chambray seven inches long and three inches wide will be enough.

Use a clothespin with a round head (Figure 1). Draw a face on it, then twist a brown pipe cleaner around for arms.

Cut the shirt from red cloth, shaping it as in Figure 2. After removing the excess water with a clean blotter, then molding the hat to the cowboy's head to form a crown and a brim. Let it dry in that shape.

Slip the cowboy's red shirt on, then his vest and place a coil of string in his pipe cleaner hand for a lariat. (Copyright, 1958)

Ghost Nine to Battle Neenah Here Saturday

Defending Champs
Lone Loss in '57
Was to Kaukauna

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna High school baseball squad with a record of one win and one defeat will attempt to regain its winning ways at 10 o'clock Saturday morning when the defending champion Neenah Rockets invade the Kaukauna diamond.

The Rockets finished with six wins and one defeat last year, the lone loss being a 7 to 4 decision to the Ghosts. The defending champions have a solid line-up of letter winners and are favored to repeat as conference champs.

Kaukauna has played good defensive ball in its first two outings but a streak of wildness by the hurlers caused the Ghosts to drop a 9 to 3 decision to Two Rivers in the last outing. Kaukauna opened by downing Kimberly 4 to 2.

Neenah opened with a 6 to 2 win over Shawano and then edged Clintonville 7 to 6 in the second league contest. With only two men lost from last year's squad, the Rockets have a front line pitching staff of Gene Gries, Mary Carlson and Don Bemowski returning.

Kaukauna Starter — Coach Harry Wilson expects to start with the same line-up he used in other games with Tony Van Zeeland on the mound and Ed Wettstein behind the plate. Lee Weyenberg will be at first base, Ron Vandenberg at second, Duane Pahl at shortstop and Gary Vaneehoven at third base.

Outfielders include Ron Busse, Jerome DeBruin, Steve Kempen and Ed Steger. Jim Steger may get the call behind the plate and Wettstein kept as a reserve pitcher on the basis of the Two Rivers performance.

Wilson expressed satisfaction with the general play of the team at Two Rivers as he substituted freely, using 12 players in different positions. Defensively the team is ready, according to the coach, but some minor lapses will have to be worked out as the season progresses.

Village May See Departure of Agency and Depot

Little Chute — The agency office and depot here operated by the Chicago and North Western railway will be discontinued if a petition by the railway company is approved by the public service commission.

The C. and N. W. railway has filed a petition with the P.S.C. for withdrawing agency service from 100 one-man offices in the state. One office is at Little Chute.

The public hearing before the commission will be at Madison May 26 at 10 o'clock in the morning. The railroad wishes to eliminate many of the 1-man stations to reduce operating expenditures. A central agency office will be located at Kaukauna if the petition is approved.

Scout Paper Drive Tuesday at Kimberly

Kimberly — A Boy Scout paper drive will be conducted Tuesday starting at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

Residents are asked to have paper in bundles or boxes and set out on the curb. Members of the Explorer post and fathers of the scouts will assist with the drive. Proceeds will be for the promotion of scout activities.

Tom Rooyakkers Paces KHS Frosh Track Team to Win

Kimberly — Freshmen of Kimberly High school defeated Fox Valley Lutheran High, 59 to 27, in a dual track meet Thursday afternoon.

Big Tom Rooyakkers led the Papermakers with four firsts out of the nine events run, excluding the relay.

Rooyakkers topped wins in the low hurdles, 220 yard dash, broad jump and high jump. Other firsts for the Papermakers went to Jeff Vander Velden in the shot put and Dave Hamann in the discus.

Fox Valley had two firsts, one by Jerry Olm in the 100 yard dash and the other to Bill Ronloff in the 440 yard dash.

Hamann had a second in the low hurdles and another second in the shot put to rank high in the scoring. Dave Minten had a pair of third places for Kimberly.

Kimberly Faces Two Rivers 9 On Saturday

Papermakers Seek Second M-E Win Against Raiders

Kimberly — In their second appearance in three days the Kimberly High school baseball team will entertain Two Rivers in a Mid-Eastern conference tilt here Saturday morning.

The Papermakers have a 1-1 league record but Coach Jim Nirschl is expecting a handful of trouble from the Purple Raiders.

Two Rivers tipped Kaukauna earlier this week by a 9 to 4 count and Kaukauna holds a 4 to 2 decision over Kimberly.

Wednesday afternoon the Papermakers rallied for a 5 to 4 victory over previously unbeaten Menasha. Kimberly tied the game at 4-4 with two runs in the sixth and another pair in the seventh. The winning run crossed the plate on a walk in the eighth.

Starting Pitchers — Starting pitcher for Kimberly may be Marv Smits or Hank Peerenboom. Both saw action against Menasha but will probably be ready for mound duty Saturday. Coach Nirschl also can count on Jeff Vander Velden and Bill Van Elzen for hurling duties.

The starting lineup for Kimberly will probably have Bob Robinson catching, Jack Lamers at first, Jim Peerenboom at second, Don Hearden at short stop and Warren Polman at third. In the outfield will be Dave Minten, Dan Vanden Heuvel and either Van Elzen, Peerenboom or Smits, depending on who is pitching.

Ron Brault probably will start on the hill for Two Rivers.

City Stores to Change Hours for Saturday Closing

Kaukauna — The retail committee of the chamber of commerce announced Kaukauna stores would close Saturday afternoons beginning May 10 and continue through Sept. 27.

Formerly stores closed at noon on Saturdays during June, July and August but a questionnaire indicated the majority of merchants favored a longer period of closing. Merchants are being asked to cooperate with the retail committee in observing these hours but several have indicated they would not go along with the new system.

The committee is not trying to force anyone to abide by the schedule but is leaving it up to the discretion of the particular businessman.

Bike License To be Issued

Explorer Scouts To Assist Kimberly Police With Work

Kimberly — Registration of bicycles will be conducted from 9 o'clock in the morning to 4 o'clock in the afternoon at the village hall, according to police.

Bike owners are reminded that police will be issuing license good for a 2-year period and cost will be 50 cents. This is a change from the usual policy in which licenses were given for one year and the cost was 25 cents.

Bicycles will be inspected at the hall. They must be equipped with a reflector on the rear and horn or audible bell in front. Headlamps are required for use of bikes after dusk, police said.

Members of the Explorer Scout post will assist police with the distributions of licenses and checking of bikes. Scouts will do the work as part of citizenship service work. They will alternate shifts during the day. Mark Vande Yacht, scout advisor, will be in charge of the boys.

Firemen Make 17 Calls in April

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna fire department made 17 runs during the month including eight for grass fires, according to William Haupt, fire chief.

Property damage as a result of fires was negligible, according to the chief. Other runs included two for flooded oil burners and one each for a car fire, grease on stove, furnace backup, short in house wiring, chicken coop and debris on the city dump truck. One routine call was made to flush the Lave street bridge.

Firemen made 28 runs in the city ambulance including 26 to the Kaukauna Community hospital, one to St. Elizabeth's, Appleton, and one call to a private home where the patient was found dead on arrival. The department also relayed 36 calls for the police department.

Little Chute — The name of James Peeters was inadvertently omitted from the list of committee workers on the American Legion flag project in Thursday night's Post-Crescent.

'Foods and Nutrition' to be Studied in KVS Nursing Class

Kaukauna — "Foods and Nutrition" will be the title for the fourth lesson in home nursing being offered Monday and Tuesday evenings at the Kaukauna School of Vocational and Adult education.

Classes will run from 7 o'clock to 9:30 in the evening under the direction of Mrs. Argo Simon. Topics to be covered include the preparation of liquid and soft diets, preparation of attractive trays through the use of nourishing foods, how to feed the helpless patient and care of the sickroom dishes, pans and utensils.

Demonstration in food preparation and tray serving will be given. Preparation of the tray is deemed important since bed ridden patients are often stimulated to eat by the attractive display of foods.

Note Increase in Federal Employees

Washington — Sen. Byrd (D-Va) announced Thursday the number of federal employees increased 2,174 in March over the preceding month but still was 83,704 under the total at the start of the fiscal year last July.

The number of federal workers stood at 2,323,947 in March, with 1,239,396 employed by civilian agencies and 1,084,549 by the defense department, Byrd reported.

He said the commerce, treasury, interior and agriculture departments showed substantial increases in March as compared with February, while the postoffice department and veterans administration reported decreases.

The navy listed a cut in its civilian workers but the army and air force increased their employees.

Byrd reports monthly on federal employment as chairman of a senate-house committee on reduction of nonessential federal spending.

Wega Phone Company Wins Rate Increase

PSC Cuts Request Because Family Controls Firm

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — A family owned and controlled telephone utility cannot be compared for rate making and profit purposes with a utility whose stock is offered to the general public, the Wisconsin public service commission declared Thursday in a rate case involving the Wega Telephone company.

The commission order permitted some increases in charges by the company which operates a number of exchanges in Waupaca county and vicinity, but not of the size asked by the firm which is principally owned by George H. Dobbins.

The company will be permitted to raise rates sufficiently to bring its net operating revenues to $16,003 a year, instead of the $18,177 the firm asked. The permitted rates will approximate a return of about 6.5 per cent on plant investment, against the 7.38 per cent asked.

Family Affair
The company operates exchanges at Fremont, Poyissippi, rural Waupaca and Weyauwega.

The commission noted in its order that all of the voting stock of the company is owned by Dobbins and members of his family. Dobbins owns 72.2 per cent and is a paid officer of the utility. The president and general manager of the company is Harold Olson, a son-in-law, the order explained.

In cutting back the revenue increase request, the commission commented:

"A family controlled utility where the amount of officers' wages can be determined by one or at most a few stockholders, and where common stock is not offered to the general public, cannot be compared with corporations whose stock is held publicly in a cost of capital study to determine what return on common stock equity should prevail."

LaCrosse Man Gets Probation for Two Bad Check Counts

E. J. Robbins, 26, LaCrosse, Thursday in municipal court, was sentenced to jail for cashing a worthless $50 check and to prison for forging an $80 check.

Judge Oscar J. Schmieg sentenced Robbins to Waupun for one to three years, then stayed execution of the sentence and gave him probation for three years. He also sentenced him to the county jail for a year, then stayed the sentence and gave him three years of probation. The sentences will run concurrently.

Judge Schmieg also ordered Robbins to make restitution for both checks within 30 days.

Robbins admitted cashing a worthless check drawn on the Hortonville branch of the Appleton State bank April 10 and a forged check on a Reedsburg bank signed Lysie Frey and dated April 7. Both checks were drawn on the Continental Training service.

N. Richmond Work to Cost City $58,600

Preliminary Share Figure Given in Letter From State

The city's share of N. Richmond street widening and resurfacing costs this summer will be about $58,600, the state highway commission notified the city today. It is a preliminary estimate subject to revision after work is complete.

Councilmen have said they will finance the city share from assessments and the 1958 paving account which totals $75,000.

The kind and amount of assessments are expected to get an airing in Monday's meeting of the street and sanitation committee or the Tuesday meeting of the board of public works. Nothing final, however, is expected.

$258,368 in City
The state said the in-city part of the project, for which Warren Wiesler, a local contractor, submitted the low bid at Madison this week, will cost $258,368.69. Of this, the city pays $35,253.29, which represents 15 per cent of those costs which the state shares, and $23,346.71, the total of charges for which the city must pay alone.

Some of the charges which the city must pay alone are derived from the need to replace sidewalks and driveways when the street grade is changed.

To the $258,368.69 in-city charge must be added the costs of the out-of-city work since the project includes that part of N. Richmond which extends from the city limits to Highway 41. The sum was not listed in the letter.

Menasha Plea For UW Help Unanswerable

101 Petitioners Oppose Latest Swim Pool Site

Need to Know How Much Money City Would Have to Offer

A plea for Appleton help to keep the University of Wisconsin extension division at Menasha is unanswerable, the city council's finance committee was told Thursday night.

Chairman Ald. Ervin J. Bogan said Mayor Clarence A. Mitchell is checking with Menasha Mayor R. G. DuCharme over how much in aid Menasha officials are seeking. The sum is not mentioned in the plea handed the Appleton council last month.

The claim of Mrs. Agatha Pegel, 1830 E. Glendale avenue, for $2,000 for injuries received when she tripped on a broken off parking meter post on W. Franklin street was denied.

A tax protest by Mrs. Gordon Wiklund, 1853 W. Spring street, who said the assessment on her property was too high, was denied. Her only recourse, it was said, is the board of review which meets annually in August to hear protests of assessment.

Attic Theater Asks Help in Choosing Plays

The Attic theater, for the first time in its 8-year history, is giving patrons a opportunity to select plays being considered for production during the summer season.

Four of the plays are comedies, one is a Victorian thriller and two are dramas. Authors range from George S. Kaufman to Pulitzer prize winning Playwrights Tennessee Williams and Arthur Miller.

Four titles are to be chosen from the following selections: "Angel Street," a Victorian thriller by Patrick Hamilton, first was produced under the title "Gaslight." It is the story of a suavely sinister man who, under the guise of kindness, tries to torture his wife into insanity.

Romantic Comedy

"The Rainmaker" is a romantic comedy by N. Richard Nash and is set in the time of a paralyzing drought in the west. The script centers about a character who appears out of nowhere and claims he is a rainmaker.

"The Solid Gold Cadillac"

a comedy by Howard Teichmann and George S. Kaufman, tells the story of a timid old lady who owns 10 shares in a corporation run by a wicked board of directors and finds a way to give the small stockholders their innings.

"Summer and Smoke"

by Tennessee Williams is built about a love affair between a somewhat puritanical southern girl and an unpuritanical young down payment for about 36 doctor.

Respected Thieves

"The White Sheep of the Family" by L. deGarde Peach and Ian Hay is described as a felonious comedy. Its action centers around a family of highly respected and well-to-do thieves and forgers. The son quits the ancestral profession to go straight when he falls for the Scotland Yard inspector's daughter.

"Venus Observed," a poetic comedy by Christopher Fry, is about an aging duke who asks his young and handsome son to help him (the duke) choose a wife.

"A View From the Bridge" by Arthur Miller, is a modern classic concerned with life in a colony of Italian-American longshoremen on the Brooklyn waterfront.

Three Aldermen Protest Air Cooling Surcharges

Told by Water Commissioners to Register Complaints With Public Service Commission

A protest against surcharges made for water used in some air conditioning units was registered with the water commission Thursday by a trio of aldermen.

Aldermen Kenneth Priebe, Harold Hannemann and Mrs. Dorothy Stillings told the commission they regard the surcharges as a basic infringement of a property owner's right to use modern devices. People should have to pay for the water they use, they said, but not a penalty fee for buying air conditioning units.

Commissioners explained they do not set the rates, the state public service commission does. They said the aldermen would have to file their protest with the PSC.

First Time Last Summer

The city was authorized to make extra charges against owners of air conditioners Nov. 2, 1956, and the charges were put in effect last summer for the first time.

There are two charges. A flat $12 one for all owners of units who employ a water conserving device with the unit. This is to cover the cost of about three spot checks each summer by water department inspectors.

A surcharge of $20 a ton of rated refrigerating capacity is charged for those units which do not employ a water conserving device.

(There are about 20 air conditioning units installed in private residences now. Assistant Commission Sec. Arthur Dimick said. These kind of units normally have about three tons of rated refrigerating capacity. The average surcharge for non-conserving residential units then is about $60 a season.)

Others Protested

The commission said businessmen who retail the air conditioning units and private citizens who own units already have registered protests with the commission. They were given the same "see the PSC" answer, it was said.

The surcharge does not replace charges which are determined by the amount of water used (at so much a gallon) and the type of water connection at the outlet. It is an added charge, made once a year in advance, shortly after May 1. There are provisions for part payments for units installed after July 1.

A device which would send water from the air conditioner to the lawn for sprinkling purposes is regarded as one method of water conservation.

The commission has made a penalty charge for owners of non-conserving devices since 1951, but it was levied on a different basis until the change last summer. To that time, the penalty was levied if the amount of water used in summer was twice or more as much as owners used during the rest of the year.

Fearful Additions

The commission asked state approval for the surcharge out of fear that summertime demands for water, dormant during most of the rest of the year, would eventually require costly additions to the water plant. The additions it was thought, would be unused during a great part of the year.

It was felt that the surcharge would encourage installation of water conserving devices and in that way reduce the demand for water.

"The cost of such devices," said the state in agreement, show about 2.66 acres, he said, "would be considerably less than the cost of additions to the water plant simply to meet short period demands."

The Lawrence Sievert and Mrs. Amelia A. Werner properties, forming an irregularly shaped parcel east of S. Lawe street immediately south of the South Side Athletic club, will be recommended as the pool site to the city council Wednesday night.

It was selected by the council's special pool site committee last week after earlier attempts to pick parcels on Reid Municipal Golf course and at the north end of S. East street were thwarted by opposition.

Letter Lists Reasons

In a letter which will be circulated among councilmen Froehlich lists these as some of the reasons for the opposition of his clients to the now-proposed site:

1. The purchase of the two properties for $22,700 plus thousands of additional dollars for new access streets would mean an unnecessary expenditure.

2. The area is less than three acres and surrounded on three sides by dwellings. Parking may well become a serious problem as the future population increases and there would be no room to increase parking facilities.

3. Large numbers of people congregating in this area very likely could lead to trespassing across lawns and yards. Loud, annoying noises and commotion, especially in the evenings, when small children should be sleeping, would be undesirable.

Near School

As the Appleton area increases in population, the available desirable residential areas, near schools particularly, continues to decrease and their value continues to increase. The Sievert-Werner property is near James Madison Junior High school.

5. It would be impossible for the entire family to be together in one place for recreational purposes if some members would want to picnic, slide or teeter totter when others wanted to swim.

"It would seem more practical and the wiser course," said Froehlich, "to locate the new swimming pool in an area already set aside for recreational purposes rather than to put it in a residential area."

"Please understand," the letter tells the councilmen, "that these people are in favor of constructing a swimming pool on the south side, but are not in favor of putting the pool on the Sievert-Werner property which is a residential site."

Question Land Area

Froehlich said the petitioners would also question the amount of land which has been said to be available from Sievert and Mrs. Werner. The amount has been represented as about three acres, but their determinations show about 2.66 acres, he said. Some of the people who met at the Wesley Barden home, 716 E. Calumet street, Monday night to draft plans for petitioners of opposition included these, Froehlich said:

Harry Reiffe, 620 E. Calumet street; Edward Dries, 712 E. Calumet; Leo L. Jakusz, 730 E. Calumet; Leo Makowski, 1833 S. Carpenter street; Elmer Klemman, 1802 S. Lawe street; Theodore Winstad, 1813 S. Lawe; and Arthur Herwig, 724 E. Calumet.

Cloak Will Speak About Theater Tour

F. Theodore Cloak, professor of drama at Lawrence college, will speak on his tour of European theaters at 8:30 Thursday evening, May 8, at Morgan school.

The lecture, "13,000 Miles of Theater," is a fund raising event for the Attic theater, which enters its ninth year this summer.

Cloak recently returned from a 1-year scholarship trip during which he studied theaters and drama in New York and Europe. All proceeds will go to the Attic theater.

Driver Flees Stolen Car; Keys Taken From Neenah Lot

A stolen 1957 car skidded at 507 N. Commercial street, about 70 feet past a stop sign. Neenah. The thief apparently is the same person who Thursday night or early this morning traveled another 30 feet into a utility pole about 1:30 this morning at E. Glendale avenue and N. Morrison street.

Driver of the stolen car fled on foot after telling the driver of the other car, Miss Mary Jane Hughes, 24, 2417 N. Meade street, that he was getting out of there.

Miss Hughes was taken to Appleton Memorial hospital by Lindy's ambulance for treatment of leg injuries.

Her car, eastbound on Glendale, was knocked 60 feet into a tree by the impact.

Appleton police said the car was stolen from Neenah-Menasha Motor company's used car lot.

A second car also stolen from the Neenah firm's lot, was discovered about 5:30 this morning by a citizen at the Appleton sewage disposal plant.

Police said the station wagon's radio and windshield had been damaged and a cigaret lighter taken.

No other cars were taken from the lot.

The Neenah firm today is having keys made for the remaining cars on the lot to replace those stolen.

Hospital Life and Baby

Frank Waltman, Staff Photographer

A Mere Speck of Humanity, a baby enters a hospital world populated by "big people". Surrounded by watchful adults, the infant spends his first days in a quiet, orderly routine skillfully designed to give him a firm grasp on life. In the above photos, taken in the hushed maternity wards at St. Elizabeth and Appleton Memorial hospitals, a pictorial record of hospital life and baby is depicted. Typical of scenes is that of a row of sleeping infants, shown extreme left, center row. Below, left, a tiny premature baby boy is photographed in an isolette-type incubator, which has humidity and oxygen controls aiding the mite's development. Professional guardians are busy caring for baby, and in top center photo, Nurse Miss Barbara Mix of St. Elizabeth hospital feeds a bottle to the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Romanesko, Kimberly. Immediately below, Nurse Mrs. Robert Brown, head of the St. Elizabeth nursery staff, gently burps a tiny girl in her crib. Shown bottom photo center, is Mrs. Milton Pirner, head nurse of Appleton Memorial nursery, who carefully weighs a little girl. Hospital staffers share their interest in baby with immediate family members, and of these, no one is more excited about the new arrival than a proud father and doting grandmother. Shown at the nursery window, top left photo, is John Wallace, route 4, Appleton, who watches his son held right by Mrs. Brown, while Mrs. Henry Rammer, Appleton, takes a close look

In Good Taste Better if Sister Had Waited

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: My parents-in-law recently celebrated their thirtieth wedding anniversary. My sister-in-law and I decided to get together and buy them something that we knew they wanted but was too expensive for one person alone to give. On the day of the anniversary we went to visit my in-laws and intended to give them the present then. When we arrived we found out that my sister-in-law (she had the present at her house) had already given them the present. I was very much put out with her for having done this and thought that since we shared in the present she should have waited until we arrived to give it to her. Don't you think she was wrong?

Answer: She should have told her parents that she would have to wait until you arrived before showing them the present that you and she were giving them together.

Guest in Restaurant

Dear Mrs. Post: When invited to a dinner party in a restaurant, may one of the guests ask the waitress for additional service, such as more butter, or should she wait for the hostess to do so? In the event that the hostess does not, should the guest just do without it?

Answer: If the waitress is standing close by, a guest could ask her for more butter or water, but strictly speaking the hostess is the only one who may properly order anything from the waitress.

Place for Napkin

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me the correct place to leave a napkin if one has to leave the table during dinner? Should it be put on the table or on the chair?

Answer: If there is plenty of room and no risk of its getting into the food on your unfinished plate the napkin should be placed on the table; otherwise the chair would be better.

Our Children

Don't Pry Into Secrets Of Young, Parents Told

BY ANGELO PATRI

"I'm off, Mother. I'll be a little late this afternoon so don't expect me until I get here. Bye now," and Joel slipped through the doorway and was gone.

His mother stood looking after him with troubled eyes. "Now what? Why did he look so secretive lately? And more so this morning? Was he failing in school? Surely the teacher would have told us? Is he getting into bad company? Who was that boy he was with last Tuesday? Could it be a girl? He's at the age. Oh dear me, why do they ever have to grow up?"

All morning long as she worked about the house these thoughts kept worrying through her mind. "I must mend that jacket. He'll want it this afternoon. I wish I knew. There's no telling these days about them. What's this? A note—from a girl I suppose." "Dear Jo—think I found the bag you're looking for. At the M. and G. I'll meet you after school's out. I'm sure your mother will love it. Just right for her birthday I think. Doesn't cost too much either. It's a sale. Be seeing you, Berta."

Jo's mother dropped into a chair and let the glad tears run down her face. "And to think I got all messed up about nothing. Serves me right! My birthday—nearly forgot it. Berta, nice child, my boy! You never can tell! I'll not let on, dear boy—I'll make banana pancakes for supper tonight."

Much of the worrying parents of teen-age children do has just as much foundation as that. The great group of our young people are fine in body, mind and soul. Of course they have private lives. They will have increasing individuality, the feeling of personal responsibility for living and for doing and they will be withdrawing steadily from the very close association they once had with their mothers. It would be sad if this were not so.

The young people must be allowed their privacy, their secrets. If they have had a reasonably good home background, with reasonably sound teaching and training they will not depart from it. They will not follow pattern accurately, being individuals, but they will follow it in principle and that will be all to the good.

It is not possible to live in another's skin. Better not try it, and to your teaching. Strengthen the children with love and guidance while they are in a state to accept it and then trust to their good sense.

Sandra Olmstead Fall Nuptials Planned by Betrothed Pair

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey R. Olmstead, Janesville, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Sandra Diane, to Donald Verbrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Verbrick, 507 E. Roosevelt street, Appleton.

Miss Olmstead is a senior at the Madison General Hospital school of nursing. Her fiancé will receive a degree from the University of Wisconsin school of commerce in June. He is affiliated with Kappa Sigma fraternity and is a member of the Wisconsin "W" club.

New Floor Care Ends Waxing

One of the difficult jobs of housekeeping is to wax linoleum and asphalt tile floors. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it's no longer necessary to wax and scrub; just apply Glaxo about twice a year. It maintains a high lustre, non slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work, plus truly a beautiful floor.

Spinster Decries Virtue, Moral Strength; Fears It Inhibits Men

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: This is no cry for help. I'm beyond that. I just want to tell you that your comparison of a girl of easy virtue with a lemon that's been squeezed too many times (you referred to both as "garbage") was a little ridiculous.

Let's face it. Men don't like too much morality. It inhibits them, scares them, or just plain bores them. I'm a stenographer, pushing 50. I've had a date or two in my day. The most attractive man I knew was a sea captain. He commanded a huge freighter which plied between New York and South America. I dreamed of the day when we'd be married and I would be his. Finally, after several months of courting, he popped the question. But the question he popped had nothing to do with marriage. When the answer was NO, he disappeared for good.

I've been passed up time and again for this same reason. I was foolish enough to think a man wanted his wife to be at least 90/44 per cent pure, but I was mistaken.

Now what do you say about virtue paying off? And don't give me any more twaddle about lemons and garbage. OLD MAID

You'll never convince me the reason you've grown gray at the typewriter is because your moral standards were too high. Good girls get married every day. In fact, a man's imagination can be a woman's greatest asset.

A Romeo who evaporated into thin air because he couldn't get what he wanted does not sound like a man who had marriage on his mind. Far better that this beel disappeared disappointed. He was going anyway.

DEAR ANN: As a practicing dentist I took exception to your remark that the only reason a 37-year-old husband would refuse to wear his dentures was because "the store teeth didn't fit."

Dentures are like a piano. Regardless of how fine a piano you purchase, you still must learn to play it.

I enjoy and appreciate your very sound advice. However, in this case, I wonder if perhaps the fault doesn't lie with the man and not the dentures. A dentist can construct the finest dentures in the world, but they are useless unless the patient

DEAR C. S.: D. D. S.: My dental consultant J. L. (also D. D. S.) informs me there is a great deal to what you say. I will pass on your comment to the wife who wrote and suggest that she urge her husband to practice the piano—I mean to stick with the dentures and master them. Thank you for writing.

DEAR ANN: Our daughter is being married late this spring and she wants her younger sister and a girl friend to be bridesmaids. This would make a party of six between the ages of 15 and 20. My husband's two unmarried sisters (ages 39 and 43) insist on being in the bridal party because they are so close to the family.

I admit these aunts have been wonderful to our daughter, but we have been good to them also.

Both of these women have been in several wedding parties, so it's not as if they've missed the thrill. My daughter is upset because she's afraid to offend her aunts. At the same time she feels they would look silly with a couple of 18 year old boys.

Please hurry your advice because we must order the dresses. Thank you.—K. T. B.

Your daughter should be free to select her own bridesmaids—but let's hope she doesn't do the right thing for the wrong reasons.

If she wants to ask her sister and a friend, this should settle it. The aunts have no right to "insist" on anything. The decision is not theirs to make. However, let's hope your daughter is not ruling her aunts out merely because they would not make a good appearance with the young boys. A wedding ceremony isn't a style show.

French Forces Report Victory Over Rebel Band

Algiers, Algeria.—French ground and air units today were reported wiping out remnants of a rebel force in eastern Algeria after what military headquarters here described as the rebellion's biggest battle.

A provisional French report listed 302 rebels killed, wounded or captured. Most were listed as slain.

French casualties were not given, but the Paris newspaper Paris-Press said losses were rather severe. Two planes and a helicopter were said to have been hit by rebel fire.

The French claimed they captured a huge number of rebel arms, including 810 machine-guns, 14 light machine-guns, 138 rifles, 61 machine pistols, a mortar and 4 rocket launchers.

The battle was joined three days ago after the rebels cut through the electrified barbed wire barrier in the area of Lavender and Souk Arras, 35 miles west of the Tunisian frontier. The barrier, intended to halt the westward flow of rebels and supplies from the frontier area, is frequently breached.

Winners at the Skat club meeting Thursday evening in the Moose hall include Fred Jungers, Wenzel Sommers, William Becker, Willis Hackstock, Herbert Kirchenlore, and George Schmidt. Refreshments were served.

Black Creek Girl Is Honored Guest At Bridal Shower

A miscellaneous shower for Miss Ruth Stingle was given Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Margaret Stingle, Black Creek. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Stingle, Black Creek. She will wed Norbert Theobald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Theobald, Black Creek, on Saturday, May 10, at St. Mary Catholic church, Black Creek.

Prizes at games were won by Miss Jeanette Peeters, Miss Carol Springstroh, Miss Edna Kuzinger, and Mrs. Gerald Wolff.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hampton console each other while police search for their daughter, Kathy, 6, who disappeared from their St. Louis, Mo., slum area flat Wednesday night. They said Kathy was "too much of a mommy's girl" to have run away. "Somebody must have carried her off," said the father, a welder. The family lives in the area where a 2-year-old girl was raped two weeks ago. (AP Wirephoto)

Quartet End in Court After Beer Party; 3 Deny Charge

Two youths and two girls were haled into municipal court Thursday afternoon on charges of having beer in a car in which two 15-year-olds were passengers.

Terrell P. Freund, 17, 608 McKinley street, Neenah, admitted the charge and was fined $50. His driver's license was revoked for 30 days. Freund, the court was told, has just been released from probation for breaking and entering in Winnebago county.

Donald L. Joas, 18, 623 Jackson street, Neenah, on probation in Winnebago county, denied the charge and was jailed in lieu of $53.20 bond for trial May 26.

Marilyn F. Jansen, 18, 512 N. Oneida street, and Theresa M. DeWitt, 18, 4125 E. Wisconsin road, were returned to jail in lieu of $38.20 bond, also for trial May 26.

County police arrested the four and took the two 15-year-olds, both boys, into custody early Thursday morning when they were found parked along the Speel school road in the town of Buchanan. County police have had numerous complaints from town officials about beer parties in the town.

Police said it was impossible to determine who was driving the car, since all youths gave different versions of the evening.

Anti-Trust Case Hearings at End

Los Angeles.—The federal trade commission has completed six days of hearings into anti-trust charges against Procter & Gamble.

The hearings convened here last month after similar sessions in Cincinnati and San Francisco. From here they will move to St. Paul, Minn., for several days, convening there May 12.

The anti-trust action was filed against the Cincinnati firm after it purchased the Clorox Chemical Co., Oakland, Calif., last August. The government contended the purchase gave P & G a monopoly in the liquid bleach field.

Hearings here were devoted nearly entirely to the position in the field of the Purex Corp., Ltd., of Los Angeles, described as the leading competitor of the Oakland firm. The last session here ended yesterday.

(Procter & Gamble also acquired Charmin Tissue of Green Bay in an exchange of stock transaction about a year ago).

Seeks Democratic Bid For U. S. Senate Seat

Kenosha.—P. Arthur McGurn, 74, of Kenosha, Thursday became the first announced candidate for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. senate.

Sen. Proxmire, D-Wis., who was elected to fill out the unexpired term of the late Sen. McCarthy, has not yet formally announced his candidacy for the full term.

McGurn, a retired postal employee, campaigned for the nomination in 1956 and 1957 but did not file nomination papers. He was defeated recently in a bid for mayor of Kenosha.

Parents Ask Leniency for Son's Killers

Seoul, South Korea,.—(P)—Parents of Oh In Ho, University of Pennsylvania student from Pusan who was killed last week by a Philadelphia street gang, appealed today in a petition to the court to give the boys "the most lenient treatment possible within the laws of your government."

They said they intended to set up "a fund to be used for religious, educational, vocational and social guidance of the boys when they are released."

Oh's uncle, On Ki Hyoung, dean of the Pusan branch of Yonsei university, said the petition was mailed to the judge of the court in Philadelphia today.

He said identical petitions signed by Oh's parents and uncles were mailed to the president of the University of Pennsylvania, the mayor of Philadelphia, and the director of the Red Cross in Philadelphia.

Oh's father, Oh Ki Byung, owns an underwear factory in Pusan. The family is Presbyterian.

Request Burial

"We hope you can spare a piece of land in your country and bury our boy there, for your land is part of the homeland of Christians and people of democratic society," the petition said.

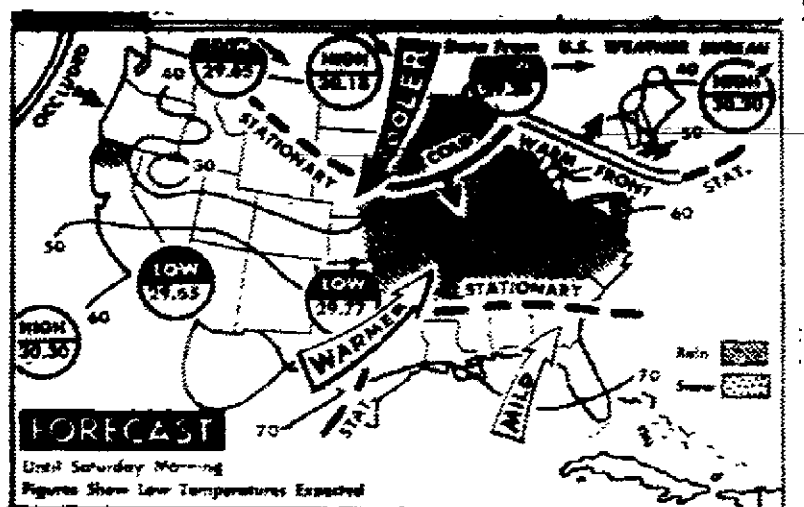

"Thus we will remember your people and you remember our people and both you and we will more vitally sense an obligation for better guidance of juvenile delinquents whose souls are unsaved and whose human nature paralyzed. We hope in this way to make his tomb a monument which will call attention of people to this cause."

They said they wanted to turn sorrow "into Christian purpose" and expressed hope "we can do something to minimize such juvenile criminal actions which are to be found not only in your country but also in Korea and, we are sure, everywhere on earth."

—that the season is still in diapers—only five days old. There are still 126 games to be played.

Saturday night's "play ball" (at 8 o'clock) will culminate six months of intense groundwork by Fox Cities club directors and other organizers. Their long, arduous efforts have borne fruit: baseball is back. The fans will take it from here.

The Fox Cities' venture is the only one in organized baseball that's cooperative to the extent of this effort. The Foxes are carrying the colors of seven communities—no other club can make that statement.

new, high-speed broiled sandwiches will be bought or how many caps will pop off bottles of Wisconsin's favorite liquid refreshments. But, suffice it to say, there'll be plenty—as will the number of times that rooters will get their vocal exercise by disagreeing with an umpire's "considered opinion."

All of these, plus a liberal intake of beneficial fresh air, are by-products of the wonderful game itself.

The somewhat unfortunate results of the first road trip (three losses in the first four games) won't deter several thousands of the Foxes' new fans from giving out with a first-class ball park welcome Saturday night. The fans reason—and rightly so

Cool Weather, Showers Due Tonight

Continued cool nighttime temperatures and showers are on the weather agenda for the Fox Cities and Wisconsin tonight.

A band of showers is expected to move eastward and engulf much of the state by tonight.

Superior had the lowest reading in the state overnight with 30. Appleton had a low of 33 after Thursday's high of 55. The temperature here at 10:40 this morning was 50, with the wind from the east at 16 miles an hour and the barometric pressure at 30.32 inches.

The early forecast calls for showers spreading over the northwest portion of the state today and showers or thunder showers over the state tonight. Saturday will be partly cloudy and cooler, with some showers in the southeast portion in the morning. The low tonight will be from the low 30s in the extreme north to the 50s in the southeast. The outlook for Sunday is for partly cloudy and rather cool.

The long range forecast calls for temperatures to average two to four degrees below normal from Saturday through next Wednesday. The normal high ranges from the mid 50s in the north to the mid 60s in the south. It will be cooler Saturday, warmer again Sunday night and Monday. Rainfall will consist of scattered showers in southern sections Sunday or Monday.

Defense Department Asks for Funds for Two State Projects

Washington.—(P)—Funds for two Wisconsin projects were sought Thursday as the defense department sent to congress a military construction bill asking $1,684,361.00 for domestic and overseas bases.

The bill asks $15,552,000 that would be used in the first major phase of construction in the Richard Bong Air Force base to be erected near Kanasville in Racine and Kenosha counties. Some preliminary work has been started at the base, and the air force hopes to begin major construction this summer.

The bill seeks $795,000 for new housing at Truax Air Force base at Madison.

Senate and house committees will begin hearings soon. A separate appropriations bill will be required to make the funds available.

Meaning of Floating Kidney, Degrees Explained by Molner

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.

Floating kidney is a term that most people don't understand. Doubtless we doctors must shoulder some of the blame for this lack of understanding. We haven't bothered to explain the term often enough.

Our kidneys are embedded in a cushion of fat. In this cushion, the kidneys can move around somewhat. The difference in position, between lying down and standing up, is a matter of a couple of inches or so.

In a lean person, the movement can be somewhat greater, since all of the contents of the abdomen will move a little more. But that's not especially important.

Well, a floating kidney moves farther than the usual distance. The amount of excess movement is significant. Many a floating kidney does not "float" to a degree that makes any difference. Others may cause some pain: one-sided dull backache, or discomfort in the side of the abdomen, are the usual symptoms. If, that is, you have any symptoms at all.

Trouble Caused

If a kidney moves far enough to permit the ureter (the tube running from kidney to bladder) to kink, then there may be some interference with the flow of urine, and hence the groundwork for infection. This, of course, requires treatment.

Now let's quote a letter:

"Dear Doctor: Is it true that persons are better off not to know they have a floating kidney? Would it be dangerous for them to belong to a bowling team or do heavy lifting?" — Anxious."

The answer to Anxious is that it is not better not to know. If there is discomfort from the kidney, knowing what causes the discomfort means that you can help correct it — if the discomfort warrants it, or if there is danger warranting action.

X-ray May Be Needed

In short, a tight girdle may be all that is required for some cases. In others, where there is

ney. X-ray will be required to determine either the presence, or the extent, of a floating kidney.

I can't see any reason for not belonging to a bowling team, or doing moderately heavy work, or subject, as usual, to the advice of the doctor, if the situation becomes more pronounced. The intermediate department necessary to "anchor" the kidney.

Medics Devise Bone Marrow Deposit System

Technique Used on Cancer Patients Prior To Radiation Help

Atlantic City, N. J.—Some cancer patients may deposit part of their bone marrow in a cold storage bank before they face tumor-destroying radiation.

This possible way of protecting blood-producing ability was suggested to a scientific meeting of the American College of Physicians.

It would give radiation therapists much more leeway as to the amount of radiation a patient could receive—without harming the blood-producing marrow.

Now a group of California doctors, headed by Dr. Nathaniel B. Kurnick of Long Beach, have devised a new technique. Kurnick described it this way yesterday:

Patients headed for heavy radiation treatments give up part of their own bone marrow. It is frozen and kept on deposit for them.

Meanwhile, the patients undergo radiation treatments designed to kill malignant tissue—and strong enough to kill the blood-producing marrow cells as well.

Replace Marrow
Then, after treatment, the patient's previous deposit of marrow is replaced in his bones.

Within two weeks the marrow has developed a greater blood producing ability than it had before the operation.

This technique has been used three times on two patients at the Veterans' Administration hospital in Long Beach. Despite the success of the transplants, both patients later died from the advanced state of their malignancy.

Kurnick says the ability to re-plant a person's marrow after storing and rebuild blood-producing ability is encouraging.
Attempts to transplant one person's tissue in another person has been unsuccessful generally because of a tendency for the body to reject foreign tissue or matter.

Reexamine Law On Industry

Designed to Break
West Germany's War
Production Power

London —A law designed to break up Germany's war production power — and particularly the Krupp empire — is now expected by Western diplomats here to be enforced with leniency if at all.

Britain, France and the United States have agreed to a request by West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to re-examine the law, the British foreign office said last night.

In the agreements ending the post-World War II occupation of West Germany, Adenauer's government pledged to carry out the allied deconcentration of industry law of 1933.

The law provided that in general by some time in 1933 Alfred Krupp and other German industrial barons would break up their concentrations of coal, steel, iron and related industries by selling some units. Instead, Krupp's empire has expanded.

Personal Letters
Adenauer wrote personal letters to the U. S. British and French government heads last year asking that the law be scrapped because the industrial barons were having trouble finding buyers. Some observers thought this was a bid by the chancellor for political support of the magnates in an election he won.

Now, a foreign office spokesman said, Bonn has provided further information on difficulties in breaking up several specific industries.

Diplomats noted that there is no peaceful way the industrial deconcentration can be enforced from outside Germany, and German courts are unlikely to honor the government's pledge. The increasing importance of West Germany to the western side in east-west conflicts also makes the allies less likely to antagonize the Germans by pressing the point.

ing a drop of 78,000 in unemployment last month, was not candid and that President Eisenhower "compounded the lack of candor, perhaps inadvertently" in commenting on those figures. Clark contended that an adjustment of the data for seasonal factors would show that unemployment increased by 372,000 over March.

The treasury said yesterday it had mailed $2,452,000,000 in income tax refunds by April 24—an increase of 35 per cent compared with the total as of that same date a year ago.

Secretary of the Treasury Anderson forecast that practically all refunds checks will be out by mid-May. That would be about two weeks earlier than usual.

Quarrel Over Report
While hoping the rebates will be converted into more purchasing, treasury officials also have in mind their special importance to persons out of jobs or on part time work.

Meanwhile, Sen. Clark (D-Pa.) and Secretary of Commerce Weeks quarrelled over interpretations given to figures on joblessness in April. Clark said Weeks, in reporting a drop of 78,000 in unemployment last month, was not candid and that President Eisenhower "compounded the lack of candor, perhaps inadvertently" in commenting on those figures. Clark contended that an adjustment of the data for seasonal factors would show that unemployment increased by 372,000 over March.

A footnote to the recession—the agriculture department said yesterday there has been a 21 per cent increase this year in the number of needy persons receiving free foodstuffs from government-owned surplus stocks. A total of 4,370,000 persons were getting such help compared with 3,441,000 a year ago.

bill in the place of an irresponsible bill, and maintained the integrity of the state unemployment compensation systems."

States Given Choice
A similar comment was made by Rep. Herlong (D-Fla.), who formally proposed the administration measure as a substitute for the Democratic bill.

Only in one important respect does the bill differ from Eisenhower's initial proposal—it permits the states to reject or accept federal assistance. The president's plan made acceptance mandatory.

The additional benefits to jobless workers would be equal to 50 per cent of the total amount of benefits to which they are entitled under the various state systems—an extra 13 weeks in most states.

The states would be required to reimburse the government after four years for any funds expended on additional benefits. The total cost has been estimated at around $800 million.

The Democratic-backed proposal would have extended 16 additional weeks of unemployment benefits to most jobless workers whether they were covered by state insurance programs or not. The financing was on a grant basis with no pay-back requirement.

How Badgers Voted
Members of the Wisconsin delegation split on the amendment to substitute the administration proposals for those advocated by the Democratic leaders. Supporting this amendment were Reps. Donald E. Tewes, William K. Van Pelt, Melvin R. Laird and John W. Byrnes.

Against the measure were Reps. Gardner R. Withrow, Clement J. Zablocki, Lester R. Johnson and Alvin E. O'Konski.

Chief Surgeon of UMW in Mine Wars Succumbs at 75

Denver—Dr. Ben B. Beshoar, 75, who was chief surgeon for the United Mine Workers during Colorado's 1913 mine wars, died in a Denver hospital yesterday after surgery.

Dr. Beshoar, of Trinidad, Colo., played a major role in treating victims of the famous Ludlow massacre.

The massacre occurred during a fight between union and anti-union forces. Several mines were bombed, killing a large number of men and injuring many.

He was surgeon-in-chief of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, a post he had held since 1943.

Born in Trinidad, Dr. Beshoar had served as Las Animas county coroner since 1934. He was a member of the Colorado state board of health for 12 years and was postmaster of Trinidad for 19 years.

Survivors include his widow, a son, Barrow, chief of the Denver bureau of Time-Life, Inc.; a stepson, William Waldrup of Puerto La Cruz, Venezuela, nine grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted in Trinidad Monday.

Delighted at the wide margin of votes, Byrnes said that the house took the "only responsible course and fortunately defeated those members who wanted to play politics with the plight of the unemployed and displayed a willingness to destroy the unemployment compensation system."

Congressman Laird, who stated that he was opposed to federalization of the unemployment program, pointed out that Wisconsin still had $245 million in reserve for unemployment benefit payments.

"Our state was the first one to adopt unemployment compensation and both labor and management in Wisconsin are opposed to any federalization of the program," Laird said.

All members of the Wisconsin delegation voted for final passage of the bill.

Police indicated that the thief or thieves may have been startled in the act when police rattled the front door of the building, left via the back door while police were walking around the building.

The club house was closed at 1 o'clock this morning by Douglas Anderson, 624 Jackson street, who was tending bar there Thursday evening.

Senator Blasts Wisconsin GOP, Gov. Thomson

Menasha — A handful of Winnebago county Democrats Thursday night heard state Sen. Richard Zaborski condemn Wisconsin Republicans for mis-handling and misrepresentation of public monies, Gov. Vernon Thomson for ineptness and Republicans in the legislature for unreasonable "arrogance."

Zaborski, state senator from the 11th district, which is made up of three heavily populated, commercialized and industrialized Milwaukee wards, spoke at the monthly meeting of the local party at the Menasha Eagles' club hall.

The senator accused the Republicans of misappropriating liquor tax funds, said to be for war veterans benefits, into the general state fund in 1947.

He also noted that $48 millions were saved during World War II, which were earmarked for construction when construction materials were not available. This money, Zaborski said, was used in the general fund to keep state finances stable without increasing taxes during the terms of Gov. Rennebohm, Kohler and Thomson.

New Home Starts 20 Ahead of 1957

$64,000 in Low-Cost 'Component'
Dwellings Boost Permits to 52

Neenah — With the issuance of 11 new home permits this week, the total new home starts climbed to 52 for the year, 20 more than on the same date a year ago.

Estimated cost of the new dwellings is $93,000 for the week. Permits for 15 other jobs bring the total cost of projects authorized this week to $104,700.

The biggest boost in home building was supplied by the E and R Construction company, which took out permits for eight of its $8,000 prefabricated "component" homes.

Three of these homes are to be constructed on Jane court, two on Peckham street, two on Maple street and one on Henry street.

The homes, built without basements, vary in size from 24 by 36 feet to 24 by 40 feet. Permits for two $10,000 dwellings and one $9,000 home were also issued by building inspector Carlton F. Williams.

Three Other Homes
A $10,000 home and garage will be erected by George Cowling on W. Cecil street in the Baldwin plat. The frame home will measure 24 by 42 feet and the garage 14 by 22 feet.

The other $10,000 home and the $9,000 home are to be built on Betty avenue by Reddin builders. Both are of frame construction. The $10,000 home will measure 24 by 40 feet, with the other 24 by 40 feet, with a 1 by 17 foot projection.

Five remodeling jobs, with a total estimated cost of $5,700, were also authorized.

A permit was issued John Wenzel, Jr., for a $3,500 job. He is remodeling the front of his Arcade market, 300 N. Commercial street.

Another $2,500 job is being planned by Robert Evenson, 661 Chestnut street, who is constructing an 18 by 30 foot dormer for two bedrooms and a sewing room on the second floor of his home.

George Larson, 512 Caroline street, was issued a permit for a $350 remodeling job involving a new front porch, and Dr. Paul Wainscott, 702 Hewitt street, was granted a permit to replace an 8 by 18 foot porch canopy with a permanent roof at a cost of $250. Alonzo Engel, 512 Main street, will remodel his porch at a cost of $100.

Six New Garages
Six garage permits, with a total estimated construction cost of $6,300, were also authorized. These were granted to Chandler Felker, 811 Caroline street, for a $1,000, 22 by 20 foot garage; Russell Bayer, 958 Zemlock avenue, for an $1,000, 22 foot square garage; Ronald Hopfensperger, 158 Gruenwald avenue, for a $1,000, 16 by 26 foot garage, and to James Kuehl, 1142 Maple street, William Hoehnke, Jr., 218 Second street, and J. C. Herzfeldt, Jr., 1063 Campbell street, each of whom are building 14 by 22 foot garages for $800.

Permits for garage additions were issued to Waldemar Stroetz, 239 E. Doty avenue, for a $200, 6 by 18 foot addition, and Leonard Schneider, 302 Pine street, for a $100, two foot addition. A $200 20 by 24 foot concrete garage slab was authorized to Joseph Kozy, S. Commercial street.

A house moving permit, with no estimated cost disclosed, was issued to Lieber Lumber company, which will move a home now at 135 N. Lake street out of the city.

Democrats to Oppose Sales Tax, Work Laws

Urge Higher Farm
Prices, Benefits
To Unemployed

Menasha — Winnebago county Democrats Thursday night officially voiced their opposition to a state sales tax and to "right to work" legislation, and also urged restoration of price supports paid to farmers and the increase of unemployment benefits.

The group, meeting at the Menasha Eagles hall, endorsed resolutions on the four items at its monthly session.

The local party urged a complete revision of the tax burden at all levels rather than a sales tax. A sales tax, the resolution stated, would "place the burden of taxation on those who can least afford to bear it while relieving those who, having sufficient income, could afford to pay the necessary costs of government."

The Democrats also urged the restoration or increasing of parity prices paid to farmers by the federal government, and the distribution of farm surplus to needy persons. Their resolution noted that state and national governments had "neglected, ignored, and in the recent lowering of dairy parity, aggravated the farm problem."

A state and national program to help the farmer help himself through improved marketing procedures and perhaps self-imposed production controls was urged.

150 Billion Winnebago Lake Flies Will Be Here in Few Days, Biologist Notes

Reports on Study Of Pesky Insects To Neenah Rotary

Neenah — There are about 150 billion lake flies, give or take a few hundred million, in Lake Winnebago right now, waiting to swarm over the cities and villages and farms along the shore in about 10 or 12 days.

These flies, if laid nose to tail, would stretch from Neenah to the moon seven times, according to Dr. Daniel Palm, one of the biologists trying to learn more about the pesky insects at the request of local citizens.

Dr. Palm, on the faculty of Oshkosh State college, discussed his study with members of the Neenah Rotary club Thursday. Two from the state college and two from the University of Wisconsin have been studying the habits of the flies since last July, when Neenah, Menasha, Oshkosh and Fond du Lac industrialists underwrote the study.

Same as Always
He admits that there will be just as many flies this spring as any other time, and that the end of his studies is not yet in sight. His group is seeking to find the proper measures needed to reduce the fly population. The actual application of such measures will be up to the citizens.

Dr. Palm said that studies so far indicate about 250 lake fly larvae per square foot along the mucky lake bottom. There are about 215 square miles of bottom, hence the astronomical estimate.

He said the conditions of the lake — hard water, shallow depth, warm sun and fairly constant wind — are ideal for lake fly development. "If I were a lake fly, this is where I would want to live," the professor quipped.

The hardest part of the control problem, Dr. Palm said, is to find the right stage in the larvae's development to exterminate, and the proper kind of insecticide to use without killing the fish.

Comprehensive tests are being made by Dr. Palm and his team of biologists in aquariums, considering the four known species of flies, the five insecticides expected to prove effective and the many variations in water conditions.

When these studies are completed, the professor said, he and his team will be able to say how the lake flies can be reduced.

What Will Move In?

He noted, however, that the biologists must also find out what will take the place of the Winnebago flies. "No environment is totally devoid of life, and our work would be for naught if the Green Bay May flies take up habitats in the muck vacated by the present insects," he said.

Dr. Palm said that the biological study group was not in any hurry to complete the job, but that it would rather be sure of a complete and accurate assay of the situation.

So there will be flies this spring—about 150,000,000,000 of them — but whether they appear in 1959 or 1960 is largely up to the biologists, the conservation department, and most of all, the people who will spend the money to reduce the nuisance.

Hardware Store Building Falls At Genoa City

2 Men Flee Via Back Door When Foundation Buckles

Genoa City — A 2-story brick building housing a hardware store collapsed with a roar today, some of the wreckage spilling out onto Highway 12. Two men who were in the store as the foundation started to buckle ran to safety through a rear door.

One witness, Nate Ponhoitz, said the Genoa City Hardware store "fell flatter than a pancake."

Workmen were excavating next door to the hardware store for a new drug store. They were on a coffee break when the walls of the old building started to crack.

Front Door Blocked One workman ran into the store, shouting a warning to Elmer Fries, a customer, and an unidentified clerk. They bolted for the front door but couldn't get out. They then raced through a rear door just as the structure collapsed.

Firemen estimated that there was $30,000 to $40,000 worth of stock in the hardware store. It is owned by Robert Pyton.

Firemen said a restaurant once stood on the site being excavated, but it burned down around Christmas time. An old building on the other side of the hardware store also is in danger of collapsing, according to firemen.

Highway 12 is known as Main street in Genoa City, situated on the southern border of Wisconsin.

Green Bay — P — The strike by members of Local 158 of the International Brotherhood of Electric Workers has rolled into its second day.

The dispute, over wage issues, began Thursday after the expiration of the old contract with the Green Bay Electrical Contractors association.

Share Prices Edge Higher

Aircrafts and Some Specialties Lead In Quiet Trading

New York — P — The stock market moved a little higher in the early afternoon with aircrafts and some specialties leading.

Gains in some major issues ran from fractions to about 2 points. Losses were mostly in fractions.

The market was quiet and mixed, then picked up volume as prices improved.

Some brokers were encouraged because Thursday's assault on the recovery highs in the industrial as erages had not brought widespread selling. There was little new in the overall business picture to sway sentiment.

United Aircraft rose more than 2 points. Some analysts noted that United had lagged behind in the recent upswing. General Dynamics, Douglas and Boeing were up 1 or more.

Lorillard and Polaroid were up a point or so. Steels and metals made slight headway. Oils and motors were irregular. Rails were down much of the morning, then turned mixed.

Small gainers included U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Steel & Tube, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone & Telegraph, International Nickel, American Cyanamid, Du Pont, Southern Pacific, Gulf and Standard Oil New Jersey.

Off a shade were General Motors, Chrysler, Caterpillar, Kennecott, Chesapeake & Ohio, Texas Co. and General Electric.

Tim Tam Favored To Win 84th Derby

Stretch-Running Silky Sullivan Gives Famous Race Added Color

Louisville, Ky. — Derby fever, keenly sharpened by one of the most colorful horses in American racing history, gripped Louisville today.

Although 16 of the nation's best 3-year-olds were entered for Saturday's race, not more than 14 or 15 were expected to start.

The eighty-fourth derby will be televised and broadcast by CBS from 4:15 to 4:45 p.m. EST.

Along Comes Silky
On the basis of 16 starters the 11-mile race before an expected crowd of some 100,000 will gross $163,000. A net of $118,900 goes to the winner. Scratchers will reduce the purses by $1,250 for each withdrawal.

Until a few weeks ago this derby figured to be a mediocre race. Then along came Silky Sullivan, who tugged at the

Jet's Alibi, Can Trust Withdrawn From Derby

Louisville, Ky. — The field for Saturday's running of the Kentucky derby was reduced to 14 today when Jet's Alibi and Can Trust were withdrawn.

Trainer Ivan Parks said the right front hoof injury suffered by Jet's Alibi in a workout yesterday had showed no improvement. Harry Trotsek, trainer for the Hasty House farm said "Can Trust definitely will not be in the derby."

hearts and imagination of racing fans.

The flaming California chestnut is owned by Tom Ross, a lumberman, and Phil Klipstein, a retired cattleman of San Francisco.

With his come-from-behind style, the son of the little known imported Irish stallion Sullivan never lets his followers down as far as thrills go.

He doesn't always win. In fact, he lost his last two starts at a mile and at seven furlongs.

But at the end he was rolling over most of his opposition after shifting into high about a quarter-mile from the finish line.

Silky probably won't be the favorite tomorrow.

That honor is expected to go to Tim Tam, a son of the great Tom Fool, from Calumet farm.

The early line quoted Tim Tam, victorious in eight of his 10 starts this year after racing only once as a 2-year-old, at 2-1.

Silky was held at 5-2 and the powerful Maine Chance farm 3-horse entry, headed by Jewel's Reward, at 7-2. Others were only lightly regarded.

Meet Your Foxes

Fox Cities baseball fans will see a Nellie Fox type of ball player—Adolf "Addie" Hintze—cover second base for the Three-I league Foxes this season.

The 5-9, 175-pound Hintze already has the hustle and the tobacco chewing habit of Fox, his idol, and hopes eventually to approximate Nellie's fielding and hitting.

Ninth of Series

Fox Cities Manager Pete Suder, a star major league second baseman in his playing days, seems ideally fitted to help Hintze improve defensively. Hintze got off to a good start in 1957—his initial try at second base—when he was second among Pioneer league (Class C) second basemen with a .963 fielding average.

Batted in 82 Runs
In batting too, Hintze seems to be advancing rapidly. The 1957 season—Addie's third in organized ball—was his best. He hit .229 for Wisconsin and drove home 82 runs. His hits included 21 doubles, six triples and five homers.

The left-handed hitting Hintze started out as a shortstop for Erie in the Class D Pory league in 1955. He batted .260. In 1956, he played regularly for half the season at third base for Charlotte in the Class A Sally league but was optioned to Winston-Salem in the Carolina league when the Senators sent a bonus third baseman to Charlotte for experience. Hintze played shortstop for the rest of the season at Winston-Salem and batted .250.

Hintze was born in Waldorf, Md., 18 miles from Washington, D. C. He was graduated from Laneta, Md., High school, where he played football, basketball and soccer.

The 21-year-old infielder has a brother playing baseball with the University of Maryland team.

Cubs Nudge Braves On Goryl's Homer, Take Over NL Lead

Reliever Drabowsky Gets Win In First Post-Service Outing

Chicago — P — The Milwaukee Braves failed again to hit when it counted Thursday and were defeated, 3-2, by the Chicago Cubs who have climbed into first place in the National league on a barrage of home runs.

Lee Walls banged his ninth homer of the season and rookie third baseman Johnny Goryl decided Thursday's game with his third as the defending champions dropped to fourth place, a full game off the pace. Goryl's homer came in the ninth inning with one out.

Leave 11 on Base
It was a completely frustrating encounter for the Braves who outthit the Cubs, 9-7, and collected four walks but left 11 runners on base. Two were stranded in the fourth, fifth and eighth innings, and a double play with the bases full wrecked their chances in the sixth. After scoring two runs in the seventh the Braves retired with the bases still full.

Frank Torre, taking over at first for Joe Adcock, led the Braves at the plate with a walk, and three hits, a double and two singles, but he managed to drive in only one run.

The victory went to the fourth Cub hurler, Moe Drabowsky, who worked only an inning in making his first appearance since getting out of service. The loss was charged to Bob Trowbridge, the third Milwaukee pitcher. It was his first decision, and the second loss in a row for the Braves.

Lew Burdette started for Milwaukee and was hauled out of 'trouble by double plays in the first and second innings. He gave up his first run in the fourth as Walls, who had a perfect day at the plate, banged the first of his two singles and Walt Moryn got one of the same. Walls scored as Dale Long hit into a force play. The single by Walls was only the second hit off Burdette.

Drills Homer
Walls gave the Cubs a 2-0 edge in the sixth as he drilled his homer into the stands in left center field.

Milwaukee got rid of Chicago starter Glen Hobbie and gained a tie in the seventh as Johnny Logan opened the inning.

Davenport '9' Tips Green Bay

Rochester Shades Cedar Rapids, 10-8, In 3-1 Action

By The Associated Press
Davenport squeezed out the vital run in the ninth inning to beat Green Bay, 7-6, and Rochester, aided by Leo Posada's grand-slam homer in the third inning, defeated Cedar Rapids 10-8, in Three-I league action Thursday night.

Former Big Ten basketball players had a big part in some of these doings.

Green Bay's Frank Howard, former cage star at Ohio State, homered for the second time in two nights.

Davenport used five hits in the final inning for its victory, the longest of which was a double by Billy Stenger, former Iowa basketball player.

Pitcher Bill Schoof, who helped Iowa win two Big Ten championship games, gained the victory for Rochester although he needed help in the seventh inning.

AHS Host in Quadrangular Golf Match

The Appleton High school golf team will be host to four Fox River Valley conference rivals in a quadrangular match starting at 8 o'clock Saturday morning on the Butte des Morts course.

Competing here will be powerful Green Bay East—featuring By Prentice—Oshkosh and Green Bay West. Oshkosh finished second to Dick Emanuel's Terrors in a season-opening 4-team match at Fond du Lac last weekend.

Emanuel will pick his AHS team from among Bob Ferrel, Dave Schuetter, Bob Bauman, Jim Reeve and Mike Smock—who competed at Fondy—and John Nussbaum, Jerry Parker and John Sullivan.

Burlington '9' Rallies To Trip Foxes, 6-5

Winners Are Outthit 9 to 3

Burlington, Iowa — The Fox Cities Foxes whacked three times as many base hits as Burlington did Thursday night, yet were unable to avoid slipping into the Three-I league cellar.

The Bees capitalized on nine walks and three errors to nip the Foxes, 6-5, and take over the league lead. The Foxes presented the Bees with five unearned runs as they dropped their third straight game since their season-opening win at Davenport.

For the finale of the season's first road trip tonight, Fox Cities Manager Pete Suder will rely on either Ted Sadowski or Bill O'Donnell. Sadowski pitched the route in beating Davenport. Whichever of the two doesn't get the nod tonight is expected to claim Saturday night's starting assignment in the Foxes' home opener.

Face Donnelly
Tonight, the Foxes face the ace of the Burlington staff, Ed Donnelly, who beat Green Bay, 3-2, in the opener.

Menasha's Don Biebel, a catcher-coach for the Bees, scored the winning run as a pinch runner in the eighth inning last night. Foxes third baseman Bob Van Dyke committed his second error of the game to allow the clincher to score.

Starter Bill Felker and Ernie Stinsa permitted Burlington only three hits, while the Foxes got nine—including a home run by Tom Palamar—off three hurlers.

The Foxes got away to a 3-0 lead in the first two frames. In the first, Van Dyke socked his fifth double of the year to score "Tex" Taylor, who had singled. In the second the singling Ed Raczynski scored ahead of Palamar's 2-run smash over the left center field fence. It was the Foxes' first homer of the year.

After a 2-out double by Taylor, Carl Johnson, veteran re-

Bonduel's Herb Pitches No-Hitter

Stops Weyauwega, 3-0, for Bruins' Third Straight Win

Weyauwega — Right-hander Jerry Herb pitched a no-hit, no-run game for the unbeaten Bonduel High school baseball team Thursday afternoon at Bonduel.

Bonduel stopped Weyauwega, 3-0, as Jerry Herb struck out 11 and walked only one. Only one other Indian reached base, and that was on an error.

Stolzman struck out four and walked three.

The Bruins got the only run they needed in the fifth when Schultz doubled. D. Herb home to end a scoreless deadlock.

Jerry Herb added icing to his rich performance by singling home two insurance tallies in the sixth.

Teachers From East Germany Flock to West

Exodus Increases With Extra Effort To Communize Schools

Berlin —P— The stepped-up campaign to communize East Germany's schools and universities has started a mass flight of scientists and teachers to the west.

More than 60 scientists—including university professors, lecturers and instructors—escaped to West Germany in the first 100 days of this year. There were about 25 in all 1957.

Scientists and teachers in other fields now are seeking political asylum in West Berlin's refugee centers at the rate of several a day.

Touched Off Exodus

East Germany's Stalinist regime touched off the exodus with its sweeping effort to purge western influences from the educational system. Previously technical schools were allowed to carry on pretty much in the traditional manner as long as they kept turning out trained manpower.

Many teachers have chosen to flee westward rather than bow to demands that they become communists, abandon religious affiliations, and pressure students into supporting the satellite regime.

Refugees say the reds have failed to buy the loyalties of many professors despite large salaries and comforts lavished on them.

Salaries paid scientists and teachers in East Germany average well above those in West Germany.

The free jurists, a West Berlin intelligence agency says the Stalinist regime still needs teachers and scientists so badly that it has held off arresting known anti-communists.

Liberal teachers are watched on the campuses by loyal communists. When they fail to yield to indoctrination, the liberals come under attack in newspapers and academic periodicals.

Annulling Degrees

With the recent stepup in atheistic propaganda, teachers have been denied permission to participate in their spare time. If he in activities of the influential does, he is fairly sure to win Evangelical (Lutheran) church, the Republican nomination in the September primary.

The reds are trying a novel way to discourage defections by professors. They are annulling doctorate degrees held by refugee professors from East German universities.

West German universities and schools who are absorbing the refugee teachers have not taken a judicial office almost 20 years ago, is the most likely competitor in the fall for their rights. It has been conserva-

Steinle Most Closely Watched Man in State Political Picture

GOP Leaders Believe Former Supreme Court Justice Likely to Get Convention Endorsement

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — The most closely watched man in Wisconsin politics today is a burly 62-year-old veteran of public affairs who quit one high and coveted office to run for another.

Rol and J. Steinle, Milwaukee lawyer and a member of the state supreme court until March when he resigned voluntarily, is hitting the campaign trail in search of the Republican nomination for United States senator.

As principal Republican organization leaders now see it, he is likely to get the backing of the GOP state convention in Milwaukee next month. If he in activities of the influential does, he is fairly sure to win Evangelical (Lutheran) church, the Republican nomination in the September primary.

Democrats Watching

Democrats are watching most as avidly as are Steinle's own, Republican associates.

They agree that the long-time jurist, who was a practicing lawyer before he goes on "It has ever been liberal in the development of programs for people and human competitor in the fall for their rights. It has been conserva-own redoubtable campaigner, Sen. William Proxmire.

Steinle's campaign started slowly, but it has been warming up lately.

As one Republican remarked after hearing the retired judge at two of the district GOP conventions lately, "He is giving out with the old-time religion."

The reference was to the fact that Steinle is reverting to the old-time orthodoxy of the Republicans, and trying to make an issue of the alleged radicalism of the dominant leadership of the Democratic party.

Defines Position

Steinle is defining his basic position in declarations like these:

"I stand for a return to foundational Republican principles—free enterprise, freedom of the individual against state socialism, freedom of opportunity against state paternalism, economy in government against wasteful extravagance, and an ever sound and expanding economy, balanced budgets, and a foreign policy dedicated to peace, freedom and justice."

"The Republican party has always stood for both liberalism and conservatism," he says. "It has ever been liberal in the development of programs for people and human competitor in the fall for their rights. It has been conserva-

Good Season Indicated for Travel Firms

New York —P— Transatlantic travel is one industry currently undaunted by the recession.

Trade sources say business has prospered in the first three months of 1958 and that prospects continue good for the rest of the year.

The aura of prosperity extends to both air and sea carriers.

The transatlantic Passenger Conference, an association of 28 transatlantic steamship lines, reports a 23 per cent rise in the number of passengers between the United States and Europe in the first quarter of 1958 as compared with the same period in 1957.

Joseph Mapyer, the association's chairman, said advance bookings were as good as or better than last year when transatlantic ship travel between U. S. and Canadian ports and Europe set a 27-year

Reuss Suggests Brannan Plan Cure For Dairy Woes

Washington —P— Rep. Reuss D-Wis., Thursday advocated the Brannan plan approach, which includes direct subsidy payments, for dairy farmers.

Reuss said in a prepared house speech that the plan, now used in supporting the price of wool, would protect the interests of the consumer, the dairy farmer and the taxpayer.

Reuss introduced a bill he said would provide reasonable prices for dairy products to record with 1,030,000 passengers.

Individual airlines note increases in their summer bookings that range from 19 to 42 per cent.

The American Express Co., one of the leaders in the travel industry, experienced a 39 per cent boost in first quarter foreign travel sales over a year ago. President Ralph T. Reed termed this "an encouraging reflection of the basic health of the American economy."

What lies behind the surge of overseas travel? "Americans are inveterate travelers," said Luis Bolin, chairman of the European Travel commission in the United States.

"The odds are that, barring political instability abroad, more of them will go overseas," he said.

The ETC has estimated that a record 675,000 U. S. citizens will visit Europe this year, an increase of about 14 per cent over 1957.

consumers, would assure fair over-all income to family-sized dairy farmers, and would cost American taxpayers less than the existing dairy price support program.

The bill was developed with the aid of Dean Rudolph K. Froker of the University of Wisconsin college of agriculture and professor Harlow W. Halverson of the university's department of agricultural economics. Reuss said.

Baby Kildee Hatched From Egg Left Month Under a Light Bulb

Louisville, Ky. —P— A baby kildie bird hatched yesterday after a month under an electric light bulb. Its luster changed to coos when a hand was placed over it.

A small display case at Louisville tire store was the wild bird's incubator. The 25-watt light bulb kept the case at 90 degrees during incubation.

The egg was found in tall grass by Johnny 5. and Patricia Bannon, 3 children of Mrs. Mary F. Bannon, proprietor of the store.

The bird, which they hope will grow to about 10 inches long, will be fed farm milk four times a day with an eyedropper. In two weeks its diet will be changed to small insects and worms.

Set Date to Call for Bids on Post Office

Washington — The post office department will advertise bids for new post office facilities at Seymour, Wis., on May 16. Rep. John W. Byrnes (R-Wis.) announced today.

You can get extra miles per gallon from the BIG BONUS in Gold Crown Super-Premium

200,000-mile test proves it

• Now, a 200,000-mile test backs up what GOLD CROWN users have said all along—"We get extra miles per gallon with GOLD CROWN!" The 100 car owners who took part in this test proved it in three-months of everyday driving!

So, for thriftier BIG BONUS mileage and smoother BIG BONUS performance, try it in your car—GOLD CROWN Super-Premium. There's never been a gasoline like it!

You expect more from Standard ...and get it!

100 private cars were driven by their owners for three months—to school, shopping, work... in city traffic and on the highway. No professional drivers, no charted courses. Gold Crown was tested the way we all drive.

Cars that started the test using competitive brands were switched to Gold Crown Super-Premium. Complete records of mileage and gasoline were kept throughout the test. The drivers did not know what brands of gasoline they were testing.

Accurate records—down to tenths of a mile and fractions of a gallon—proved what so many Gold Crown users have reported... extra mileage with Gold Crown, particularly at highway speeds, when fouled spark plugs waste power and fuel.

One big reason Gold Crown gives more miles—a few tankfuls restore full fire to most fouled spark plugs. Plug on left is fouled, spark is erratic, wasting gas. Plug at right shows how Gold Crown restores spark for full power, more mileage.
